Rioting Follows Resignation Of Chinese Nationalist Government Head

Chiang-Kai-Shek Resigns His Post; Rioting Follows

President Of Chinese Nationalist Government Forced Out Of Office

KEEN OPPOSITION HAS DEVELOPED

Thousand Students Invade Foreign Office At Nanking, Damage Is Heavy

(International News Service)

SHANGHAI, Dec. 15—Chiang-Kai-Shek resigned today as president of the Nationalist government.

Further cabinet changes were expected immediately.

Simultaneously with the resignation announcement word was received here of serious rioting in Nanking, seat of the Nationalist government.

Keen Opposition

Chiang's resignation, was widely reported yesterday as having actually taken place, and caused little surprise.

Opposition to the government's handling of the Manchurian situation and its acceptance of the league's proposals at Paris had aroused antagonism in many quarters.

Chief among the opponents of Chiang's regime is Wang Ching Wei, former chief advisor to Sun Yat-Sen and now head of a group of Cantonese.

Foreign Office Wrecked

A thousand students invaded the foreign office at Nanking, reports stated, wrecking the building and abusing Dr. Wellington Koo, foreign minister.

Troops wer rushed to the scene and opened fire upon the student mob, according to the reports. Heavy

PA NEWC OBSERVES

Some of the speed warning signs of the city, hanging on telephone or light poles, should be straightened around so that motorists could read them. They're not all that way, of course, but there's enough that seem to be.

Pa Newc hasn't noted any such cases, but a prominent resident complained to him today about city garbage collectors trampling over their unusually soft lawns. He said his was tramped on a wet day recently, and still the deep footprints remain.

The City Rescue Mission is still pushing its campaign to distribute the newly-devised ticket coupons for helping needy men when they ask for aid.

Christmas-time and the holiday spirit seems to gain a tight hold upon everyone, not matter how times are. This year it seems that as many organizations will send out

LEASE ON SMALL SHOP IS BLOCKING COMPLETION OF POST OFFICE SITE DEAL

Discover That New Lease Was Executed During Present Fall

MAY CAUSE DELAY IN STARTING WORK

Price Of Lease Is In Controversy—May Require Condemnation

Delay in completing the purchase of the properties for the new Post Office on the Diamond, hinges over an agreement for sixteen feet of ground and a small shop on it owned by Mrs. Mary E. Clark, and leased to Fred Sparana and Andrew H. DeLillo for a barber shop, it was learned today.

Negotiations for the purchase of the property have been under way since last September. Most of the property owners reached an agreement with the government regarding the purchase price within a comparatively short period of time, it is said.

May Force Deal

Refusal of the leasors of this small strip of ground and the building to accept the offer made them by the government is reported holding up the negotiations, and unless an agreement is entered into within the next few days, it is intimated that condemnation proceedings will be entered into to secure the small piece needed.

Condemnation proceedings would result in a long dawn-out legal procedure which will delay progress on the construction of New Castle's new post office for many months, but unless an agreement is reached within the next few days, these steps will be taken by the U. S. Treasury Department, it is believed.

Dr. Galbraith May Be Named College Head

Bellevue Minister May Be President Of Westminster College

Reports are current that at a meeting of the Westminster College board of trustees to be held in Pittsburgh, in the next few days, the matter of selection of a new president for the college will be taken up, and a possible decision made.

Among the leading possibilities for the selection at the present time is Dr. Robert Galbreath, pastor of the Bellevue Presbyterian church, according to the report. Dr. Galbreath is a graduate of Westminster College, and has for some time been prominently mentioned as a likely successor to Dr. W. Chas. Wallace, who resigned last June.

Dr. Charles Freeman, for many years dean of the Westminster College faculty, is at present in charge at Westminster as acting president.

The board meeting is scheduled for next Monday afternoon, it is understood.

Coast Guardsmen Hunt Two Believed Missing On Ship

Captain's Body Washed Ashore —Hunt Begins For Two Missing On Fishing Boat

(International News Service)

NEW LONDON, Conn., Dec. 15.—Every available coast guard patrol boat was sent out today to search for two of three fishermen believed to have perished on the fishing smack "Vivian," off Gay Head. A body found off Gay Head, on Vineyard Sound, was identified as that of Captain Emery Rogers, New London.

Coast Guard officers here said the Vivian hailed originally from New London, that she put out from Point Judith for Gay Head on December 7, and had not been seen since.

High Water Is Checked Today By Cold Wave

Southern Ohio Aided By Cold Weather In Battling Swollen Streams

HEAVY RAINFALL THIS TIME OF YEAR

(International News Service)

CHILLICOTHE, O., Dec. 15.—Stinging cold weather gave Ohio reinforcements today in its battle to stave off damage from booming rivers which threatened floods.

The abrupt drop in temperatures, signalizing the end of the rain, gave promise of freezing some of the smaller streams which have been pouring water into the Scioto, Muskingum, Licking and Hocking rivers, forcing them swiftly upward.

Although the air was biting cold, the change was not expected to prove a serious handicap to Southern Ohio sections which yesterday and today worked with all possible strength to avert a flood.

No Cities Flooded

At least one death was caused indirectly by the high water. Thomas Carlos, 43, miner, was trapped in his automobile near Martins Ferry, and died, asphyxiated by exhaust fumes.

Rising waters forced county coroner J. W. Neal and the miner's wife to climb to the top of their automobile. Many motorists were reported to have abandoned their cars.

Although the streams broke their banks in several rural sections, no cities were reported to be flooded.

At Martins Ferry the Ohio river's rise continued but the water did not seriously approach the flood stage. All along the river, however, an anxious watch was kept.

Mercer Man Being Sued For $80,000 By General Coxey

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, Dec. 15.—Harry M. Miller, of Mercer, Pa., was named defendant in a damage suit for $80,000 on file in federal court today as the result of an automobile accident in Youngstown, O., last April 4.

According to the bill of complaint, Mrs. Coxey was injured when a machine in which she was a passenger was struck by an automobile driven by the defendant at the corner of Heme and Wood streets in Youngstown. Miller was charged with negligence and carelessness.

HELD PRISONER BY CONVICTS IN OWN HOME

Emerson Salisbury, elderly farmer living near Leavenworth, Kas., won't forget the recent outbreak of seven convicts from Leavenworth, which resulted in the death of three, the capture of three others and the escape of one. He was made a prisoner in his own house by the trio who shot it out with a large posse before they took their own lives when capture seemed inevitable. He finally escaped from the bullet ridden house by jumping from an attic window during the gun battle.

HARRISBURG, Dec. 15—With passage of the major parts of the "opposition" unemployment relief program now political history, Senate and House met today prepared to oppose any relief plans which call for additional taxation.

The opposition program, introduced in and passed by the house by an overwhelming vote, was passed almost unanimously in the senate last night.

WAGE CUTS FOR ERIE WORKERS

City Council Votes To Reduce All Salaries Of City Employes January 4

(International News Service)

ERIE, Pa., Dec. 15.—A ten per cent wage cut for all city employes, effective Jan. 4, was ordered today as council announced the city tax levy rate for 1932 will be 13.6 mills, .3 of a mill lower than the current levy.

Members of the fire and police departments are included in the wage reduction. Sixty firemen met in Central Labor Union Hall to protest the proposed wage cut but no formal action was taken.

Proposes Cut In Salaries Of State Employes

Resolution Is Presented In House Today By Spangler Of York

GOVERNOR URGED TO TAKE ACTION

Many Resolutions Are Presented At Day's Session Of Legislature

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, Dec. 15.—The first move seeking a downward slash in the state payroll came today when Rep. Robert S. Spangler, York, introduced a resolution in the house providing for salary reductions for state employes, including department heads, during 1932. Savings so effected would be used by the state for relief purposes.

Under the resolution, the governor is urged to reduce salaries of employes receiving less than $2,000 a year by five per cent while employes receiving more than $2,000 would be cut 10 per cent.

Department heads, whose salaries cannot be changed under the constitution during their term of appointment or election, would be asked to volunteer a ten per cent reduction. The resolution was laid over for printing.

The senate judiciary general committee meanwhile postponed indefinitely action on five measures which had originated in the upper branch. Four were proposed amendments to the state constitution and one, a bill sponsored by Senator Bertram C. Frazier, Philadelphia, would have fixed maximum rates for public utilities. The Frazier bill would have conflicted with the subjects specified in the governor's call for the special session.

Resolutions in House.

Resolutions were cropping up rapidly in the house. The Hutton resolution providing the legislature go on record as considering the governor's call for the special session be construed to be advisory only was passed in the lower branch.

Another, by Rep. Wade, Cumberland, calling on congress to pass a national liquid fuels tax bill of 3 1-4 cents per gallon, one-fourth cent to

More Contributions Made To Relief Fund

Additional contributions to the Mayor's Relief Fund which were made during the past 24 hours, were much higher than they have been for almost a week, $147 having been added during the past day, bringing the total to $4,799.34.

This amount is needed every day in order to keep the fund on an established basis, but funds have been lagging for the past few days.

The committee will be able to know just where they stand when tonight's meeting is held and expenditures for the past few weeks are approved for payment.

Soup has been furnished to deserving families for several weeks, and is now almost at the peak point reached last winter. The number of baskets given out at the Carnegie Auditorium is also near last winter's peak mark, and many additional requests are being made daily for assistance.

In addition to money, the committee is in need of usable clothing, distribution of which is also being made at the auditorium.

Those who have not contributed to the Mayor's Fund are asked to do so, using the following coupon, and bringing or mailing it to City Treasurer L. W. McClung.

PLAN FUND CAMPAIGN TO ELIMINATE DEFICIT AT JAMESON HOSPITAL

Need To Raise Approximately $50,000 Early In New Year

Charles H. Johnson, Jr., Is Named As Vice President Of Board

Faced with the necessity of raising upwards of $50,000 to wipe out an existing deficit the Jameson Memorial hospital board at their meeting in the hospital last evening, made tentative arrangements to conduct a financial campaign in behalf of the institution after the first of the year.

The members of the board also named Charles H. Johnson, Jr., vice president of the board, succeeding H. L. Gordon, who has been vice president during the past year, and acting president for the past few months.

T. C. Post, president, elected last January, had resigned because of the press of personal business when the recent merger of the New Castle Box company with several other concerns was consumated. Mr. Gordon succeeded to his duties, but he too found that it was a big task to carry on, along with the duties of his position as assistant general manager of the Pittsburgh Limestone Co., and the G. W. Johnson Limestone Company, and resigned in order that someone who could give more time to the post could be named.

Raised Over $100,000

Since the opening of the new hospital a little more than two years ago, over $100,000 has been raised to equip and maintain the institution. This was contributed by a very small group of public spirited citizens. In spite of their efforts, however, there has been a growing deficit, which now is slightly more than $50,000 and which must be wiped out in order to maintain the credit of the institution.

This deficit has arisen because of the fact that additional equipment had to be purchased from time to time to keep the hospital modern in every respect, and also that a great many additional charity cases

Republican Chiefs In Conference To Lay Groundwork For Hoover's Renomination

By GEORGE E. DURNO
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Dec. 15.—Members of the Republican national committee gathered here today to formally decide that the business of re-nominating President Hoover—which seems to be a foregone conclusion—shall be undertaken in Chicago the second week of June.

Although Detroit is prepared to make a strong bid, possibly including a cash guarantee, for the 1932 Republican convention, all the talk favored Chicago on the first ballot. The windy city, with its offer of $150,000 in cash at a time when cash is scarce, seemed to have the call.

Senator Simeon Fess of Ohio, chairman of the committee, will call the committee men and women to order, and follow immediately with a brief speech outlining conditions within the Republican party. Mrs. Ruth Pratt, congresswoman from New York, and also committeewoman, will speak for the ladies.

Will Hear Bids

Then will follow motions for appointments of committees on call, memorial, data for platform, change of rules and contests, and adjournment for lunch.

T. J. McCullough Has Stroke While In Downtown Office

CONDITION TODAY LITTLE CHANGED

Thomas J. McCullough, commissioner of Lawrence county for the past eight years, was suddenly overcome by a paralytic stroke seizure about four o'clock Monday afternoon, as he was about to leave the office of Civil Engineer C. H. Milholland, where he had been in conversation, and had to be removed to the Jameson Memorial hospital.

At the hospital today, it was stated that Commissioner McCullough had spent a fairly good night but that his condition was unchanged

Mr. McCullough and Mr. Milholland were in the private office of the former on the second floor of the St. Cloud building, while Robert M. Hainer, who occupies the front room of suite of offices, was busy there.

Mr. McCullough had been talking possibly ten minutes, when remarking "Guess Id better get up and go", he started to get out of the chair in which he was seated. He had apparently been all right until that time.

As he reached his feet, suddenly his left leg gave away and he

McClendon Is Being Tried On Shooting Charge

Charged With Involuntary Manslaughter In Hasty Daniels' Death

DANIELS SHOT AT McCLENDON GARAGE

Leroy McClendon, colored, was placed on trial before Judge James A. Chambers today on a charge of involuntary manslaughter in connection with the death of Hasty Daniels, also colored, as a result of a shot fired from a revolver by McClendon at his garage in South New Castle on the evening of November 15th.

There are also two other charges against McClendon, one of possessing firearms and another of wantonly and playfully pointing firearms. McClendon had no attorney and Judge Chambers appointed Attorneys Joseph McFate and John Lamoree to defend him. District Attorney John Powers and George Muse represent the commonwealth.

Dr. Paris Shoaff, who had attended Daniels at the New Castle hospital following the shooting, and who also held a post mortem, testified that the bullet which killed Daniels had entered about two inches above and to the right of the navel. It had severed a blood vessel, which had caused a hemorrhage, from which the victim died.

Madison Lowe testified that he worked for McClendon and that on the Saturday evening previous to the shooting a customer had brought a truck into the garage to be fixed. He and James Marshall had gone to work on the truck on Saturday evening. Later McClendon told them to put the lights out and come back on Sunday, the 15th, to finish work.

They worked all day on the truck, McClendon being in and out of the garage at times. In the evening when it was completed, a Ford truck was secured to haul it out of the garage, but the truck would not pull it. During the time that efforts were being made to get the truck out of the garage an argument ensued between the witness, Marshall, and McClendon. McClendon, witness claimed, went upstairs above the garage and got a revolver, which he had sticking in his shirt front when he came down. Soon after the witness left. He did not see the shooting.

James Marshall and Tony Perrett told about being at the garage previous to the shooting, but, having a pop bottle of moonshine, had left and gone to the hillside near the New Castle hospital. They heard the shot a little later. In answer to questions they denied that they had been talking to McClendon about purchasing the gun.

Jack Marso claimed that McClendon had been showing the gun to Marshall and Perrett and that the gun had gone off, the bullet striking Daniels, who came around the corner of the garage at the time. The case is still on trial.

have been handled during the last two years, the number increasing with each succeeding month.

The board of directors has been operating the hospital along the plan made by the late David Jameson prior to his death, namely that the doors of the hospital would always be open to those in need of hospital assistance, regardless of their ability to pay.

This wish of Mr. Jameson's has been carried out by the board and an ever increasing number of charity patients is being cared for.

Election of a president and further plans for the financial campaign will be made at the next meeting of the board.

It is the hope of the board of directors of the hospital that the citizens of New Castle will realize that this is their responsibility as much as it is the members of the board and will cooperate heartily in helping to raise the funds necessary to wipe out the deficit.

baskets of food to needy folk as ever before. All are willing to help others less fortunate, those to whom Santa might not otherwise pay a visit. It's the true Christmas spirit.

Young Pa Newc believes he beat the rest of the 'Newc.' This member of the Newc family saw a state 1932 license plate about 8:00 o'clock this morning. The license was "L450."

Quite a few new 1932 license plates were observed on New Castle autos this morning, but the majority of the cars still had the old tags on.

There was quite an agreeable change in the weather during the night, and freezing temperatures were with us again this morning. Now for a nice white Christmas to please the kiddies.

One can drive across the central part of Pennsylvania without encountering a single detour, the new Detour Bulletin of the State Highway Department shows. One-third of the detours are located in the extreme Northeast section of the state. The Bulletin is posted in the News lobby.

Umbrella mending must pay dividends. Pa Newc saw a mender yesterday who drove a great hulk of an automobile, the interior of which was fitted out to be a fully equipped umbrella mending shop. Painted pictures of umbrellas adorned the exterior of the car. It created interest where it was parked on South Mill street.

Some of these Christmas lighting decorations on local buildings are very attractive. The lighted "Merry Xmas" on the Pennsylvania Power company building looked very pretty last night.

"Good Morning To You" must have been sung at Sunday school the other day, for the tune was so impressed in the mind of a little girl about so high yesterday that she broke out in it rather lustily while riding on one of the trolleys.

Squire Cooper of the South Side said this morning that he has never seen as warm weather as that in the past month or so in 40 years. In other years it wasn't long to discover that winter was present after September.

Heavy rainfalls of the past few days have played havoc with the intersections of North Mercer street at Hillcrest and Fairmont avenues. The water has torn wide and deep gullies in the cartway of North Mercer street, which proved a straight route from the downtown section to the north city line.

The street department is getting thoroughfares in shape for winter travel, according to Director Stanley Treger, superintendent of the department of streets and public improvements. The men who are under the jurisdiction of Commissioner Harry Moore, were at work in several places. The scraper was also in operation.

Council will meet some time next week to compile the budget. As yet no definite date has been set. Taxes are coming into the city treasury slowly, according to a statement of Councilman Burns.

State highway patrol activities here during the past few days have had a lull, due to there being no accidents. Recently when fog overspread the county the state highway patrol rode the highways in an effort to be of assistance. Today visiting highway patrolmen are testing prospective drivers of automobiles.

Negotiations for assistance for Mr. Flack who has been ill for some time were started Friday by Secretary Potter of the Lawrence County Chapter, and Saturday evening, an attendance arrived from Pittsburgh to take Mr. Flack to Brooklyn. He is suffering from stomach trouble of a serious nature.

mittee members will hear the bids of Chicago, Detroit, Philadelphia, Atlantic City and St. Louis for the convention. Only the first two are seriously in the running. It was anticipated a vote would be taken before adjournment.

Tomorrow, certain of the committees appointed today will report back. Most important of these is the committee on call, of which Roy O. West, of Chicago, is chairman. West, assisted by James Francis Burke, of Pittsburgh, general counsel for the committee, worked most of last night on a plan for re-appointment of delegates to the '32 convention, based on the 1928 vote. It was expected an increase of from 50 to 63 delegates would be recommended, withe the southern states which voted for Mr. Hoover receiving the lion's share. In order that all sides be represented, three members of the committee will come from states in which there is no change of representation, three from states getting increases, and there from states losing delegates by the re-alignment.

and which Attorney General Schnader called a "wolf in sheep's clothing" went through by a 48 to 1 vote only Senator John G. Homsher, Lancaster, opposing it.

The bill now goes to the governor who will have until December 22 to act upon it. Already a well developed move is under way to pass the bill over his veto should he disapprove it. The measure will take $10,000,000 from the general fund for distribution to county poor boards for direct relief.

Speeches Made

Prior to the vote several senators spoke in favor of the measure attacking the Attorney General for attempting to dictate to the legislature which bills it should pass. They united in condemning gigantic relief plans which may build up standing armies of the unemployed but admitted that temporary relief should be accorded.

Senator Clarence J. Buckman, Bucks, administration floor leader, was the only one who favored the bill and asked its support. As an unbroken line of "ayes" rolled out, however, Buckman jumped aboard the winning ship, leaving only the Senate Dean, Homsher, to stand fast by the governor.

Having cleared its calendar of final passage measures the senate will have for action only those measures which passed the house finally last night.

Turner Bill Passes

The house passed the Turner bill appropriating $100,000 to the department of property and supplies for the maintenance and improvement of airports, landing fields and intermediate landing fields by a vote of 114 to 35. The two Trainor bills expending for three years the period during which emergency loans may be negotiated were massed together with the Turner bill extending to one year the time during which poor districts may negotiate temporary loans.

Following a lengthy debate on a motion by representative Musmanno, Allegheny county, to discharge the committee on rules from further consideration of his resolution memoralizing congress to pass a $5,000,000,000 appropriation for public works, the house defeated the motion by a vote of 115 to 77.

casualties were believed to have resulted.

The students came from cities and towns for miles around, having marched to Nanking purposely to protest the government's foreign policy. The president's resignation provided the cue for the outbreak, and the entire city was reported to be under a reign of disorder.

Lin Sen in Control

Lin Sen, aged head of the legislative council, assumed the acting presidency in the emergency. The presidency of the administrative council, also resigned by Chiang Kai Shek, was filled by Chen Ming Shu, another leader of the forces opposed to the former government.

The student agitation was believed to be directed against Chiang-Kai Shek's administration rather than against Japan, and order was expected to be restored as soon as the new government gained complete control.

Forty thousand additional students were reported to be enroute to Nanking to participate in the demonstrations.

Wild Rioting

NANKING, Dec. 15.—On the heels of the resignation of General Chiang Kai-Shek as president of China, wild rioting broke out here today, resulting in at least thirty casualties. Several rioters were outright when soldiers were forced to fire into the midst of a mob of demonstrators.

Chiang Kai-Shek's resignation, paving the way for a unification of the Nationalist and Cantonese factions in Chinese politics, followed an onslaught of criticism against his domestic and foreign policies, and particularly his acceptance of the League of Nations council's resolution settling the Manchurian dispute.

Lin Sen, aged head of the legislative council of the Nationalist government, was designated as acting president in the emergency pending appointment of a new chief executive acceptable both to Cantonese and Nationalist leaders. Chen Ming, Shu, one of the leaders of the forces opposed to the Nationalists, was named as president of the administrative council, another post formerly held by Chiang Kai-Shek.

Simultaneously with announcement of the resignation shortly after noon today, wild rioting broke out. Students from Shanghai, Peiping, Tientsin and Nanking, who had swarmed into the capital in ever-increasing numbers during the last week, launched mass attacks against government offices.

Mr. Milholland suggested that his foot might be asleep, but Mr. McCullough, who retained full possession of his faculties, remarked "No, I'm afraid it is something worse than that." A physician was called while in the meantime Mr. Milholland did everything possible to stimulate circulation in the left leg and left arm of Mr. McCullough, both of which were affected as was his left eye and the left side of his tongue, interfering some with his speech, although he remained in full control of his mental faculties.

Following the arrival of the physician and an ambulance, Mr. McCullough was removed to the hospital and his family and the County Commissioners office notified.

be retained by the federal government and the remainder to be returned to the states, was laid over for printing.

An effort to introduce a "full-crew" bill in the house by Rep. Baldridge, Allegheny, was frustrated by Rep. Lucas, Philadelphia. Lucas pointed out that unanimous consent is required for the introduction of bills after the last day for introduction. When Baldridge called for unanimous consent, Lucas offered his objection.

Without debate, the house passed the Denman bill providing that preference be given residents of Pennsylvania on public works. The Griffith bill providing no person shall be employed by the commonwealth who has not resided in the state through the last two elections preceding appointment also was passed.

War Veteran Passes Away

A. R. Houston Dies At Home On Neshannock Avenue Following Illness

IN PENNSYLVANIA VOLUNTEERS IN WAR

A. R. HOUSTON

A. R. Houston, veteran of the Civil war and one of the city's oldest and most highly esteemed residents, passed away Tuesday morning, December 15, 1931, at his home, 461 Neshannock avenue, following an illness of but a few days. Mr. Houston was one of the few remaining veterans of the Civil war and his passing is the cause of widespread regret.

Mr. Houston was born in Lawrence county August 1, 1845, the son of James and Martha Houston. Practically all his life of 86 years with the exception of 18 years spent in the oil fields of Venango county, was spent in Lawrence county. It is 41 years since he returned here from Venango county to spend the balance of his days.

He enlisted at Mercer in the 101st Pennsylvania volunteer infantry in the early days of the Civil war and served until the close of the war, serving one enlistment of three years and then re-enlisting for the balance of the war.

He participated in many of the major actions of the Civil war, among them being Hatchet Run and all but got into the battle of Gettysburg, his regiment moving up to reinforce General George Meade at that famous battle, when the southern forces turned back toward the south.

Mr. Houston was a cement contractor, which business he followed for many years, until his retirement a number of years ago from active business. He was a member of the Christian and Missionary Alliance and the G. A. R.

His first wife, Mrs. Nancy Kaufman Houston, preceded him in death 11 years ago. His second wife, Mrs. Mae Stanley Houston, survives him, as does the following children, William Houston of Emlenton, Pa., George Houston and Mrs. S. D. Altman of this city, Mrs. Martha Ward of Youngstown, O., Mrs. Andrew Kahrer, Edward Houston, James Houston, Mrs. Bertha Booher, Aller Houston, Clyde Houston, all of this city, and Mrs. Harry Miller of Waterbury, Conn.; also 46 grandchildren, 106 great-grandchildren and one great-great-grandchild.

Funeral services will be held on Thursday, December 17, 1931, at 2 p. m. at the family residence, 461 Neshannock avenue, with Rev. E. C. Anderson, his pastor, in charge. Interment will be made in Oak Park cemetery.

LEASE ON SMALL SHOP BLOCKING COMPLETION OF POST OFFICE DEAL

L. H. Blanton, assistant site agent of the Treasury Department, who was in New Castle yesterday in an effort to reach an agreement in the matter, returned last evening to Washington.

Lease Recently Made

The lease on the piece of property in question expired this fall, it is stated, and a new lease was negotiated by the lessors for a five year period, with the privilege of renewing their lease for a ten year period at the expiration of the new lease.

The sale of the property to the government by Mrs. Clark was made with the understanding that they negotiate with the lessors, and it is understood that they offered to relinquish their lease for a certain sum which the government held was too high a figure.

The negotiations have now reached an impasse, and will probably result in condemnation proceedings being instituted to secure this one little piece that is holding up the progress of the work in this city.

One Of Original Locations

The Diamond site, which involves several properties was offered to the Treasury Department, as one of the original locations when site bids were opened here on May 22, 1931.

Definite acceptance of this location as the site for the post office was made in September by the Treasury Department. In the meantime, the lease on the property at 13 West Washington street was renewed by DeLillio and Sparano, it is claimed by those who have been conducting the negotiations.

Whether a settlement will be reached, or whether condemnation proceedings will be necessary will be made known within the next few days, it is believed.

Complaint Made Against Owners Of Coal Mines

Public Unprotected From Unfair Price Of Coal; Miners Get Unfair Wages

(International News Service)

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Dec. 15.—No protection to the public from unfair coal prices and to the miners from unfair wages and working conditions is provided by the plan to stabilize the bituminous coal industry proposed by the general committee of bituminous coal-operators.

That was the contention of Henry Warrum, general counsel of the United Mine Workers of America, in a letter sent today to Secretary of Labor William N. Doak.

Warrum charged the plan of the mine owners is a clear violation of the Sherman Anti Trust Law.

YULETIDE PROGRAM FOR WOMAN'S CLUB

A Christmas spirit pervaded the auditorium of the Highland church Monday afternoon as the members and guests of the Woman's Club assembled for the annual Yuletide program.

Mrs. J. Norman Martin was in charge of the musical part of the program and she introduced Thomas H. Webber, Jr., organist and chorister of the First Presbyterian church, who presented the junior choir of fifty voices in a program of Christmas carols.

The little folks made a striking appearance as they appeared in the pulpit and choir loft of the church, their black robes and white surplices being nicely set off by the background of green and white, which was formed by several large Christmas trees and a banking of greenery on white. Their voices were harmoniously blended and showed careful training.

Their carols included "O Little Town of Bethlehem:" "There is Joy O'er All the World," "Away in a Manger," "I Hear Along Our Streets," "Silent Night," "Bring a Torch."

Thomas H. Webber, Jr. played an organ number "Gesu, Bambino" by Yon and he accompanied Mrs. Lillian Butcher Stambaugh as she sang a "Lullaby" from Maunder's Bethlehem.

Mrs. Harry McKee of the program committee then introduced Mrs. Anna Marshall McCracken of the Department of Fine Arts, Carnegie Institute, Pittsburgh, who presented a beautiful story of "The Christ" in lecture and picture: using lantern slides of famous paintings to illustrate her talk as she repeated the story of the Christ Child as told in the Book of Books.

The meeting was closed by the president, Mrs. A. B. Street, asking for the minutes of the last meeting, which were read by Mrs. E. L. Kaplan.

MRS. J. F. RENTZ HOSTESS TO CIRCLE

A Christmas tea and program marked the session of The Reading Circle members when they assembled in the home of Mrs. J. F. Rentz, 219 Winter avenue on Monday afternoon.

The program under the direction of Mrs. Wayne Stitzinger and Mrs. William Caldwell Jr., proved unusually entertaining, and children of the club members were the participants, namely, Allen Barnett, John Jean, and Bruce Copeland, Natalie Ehrlich, Mary Ellen, John, Carroll and Bobby Henderson, Jane and John Morris, Norma and Jack Nixon, Richard and Freddie Rentz, Charlotte Rogers, Lois Marian Smith, Nancy, Jane and George Stitzinger, Roberta Street and Nell and Dorothy Young.

The program given follows: song, "Joy to The World" by entire group; Children's chorus, "The Christmas Tree" with Geo. Stitzinger at the piano: reading "Baby's First Christmas," by Roberta Street: Trumpet solo "The Pals" by Richard Rentz: Children's Chorus "The Christmas Fairies" with Dorothy Young at the piano; song "Little Town of Bethlehem" by Circle with Lois Marian Smith at piano; Reading, "The Christmas Stocking" by Jane Morris; Chorus "Three Kings of the Orient" by children; with special parts being taken by John Copeland, Jean Copeland and Charlotte Rogers with George Stitzinger at piano; solo, (piano) "April," by Dorothy Young: Song, "Silent Night" by children with Richard Rentz accompanying with trumpet, John Henderson, violin and George Stitzinger on the piano.

The tea table, beautifully appointed in tones of red and white suggesting Christmas in an attractive manner was centered with a bouquet of white baby mums mingled with red holly berries. Tall red tapers completed the setting. Mrs. Fred Smith, president of the Circle, poured.

The members brought gifts at this meeting to be given to the children of the Neighborhood House at Christmas time.

On January 4, 1932, the Circle will be received at the home of Miss Laura Marquis, Wallace avenue.

UNEXPECTED CLUB REGULAR MEETING

The Unexpected club associates met Monday evening for their usual dinner event at the home of O. P. Brown on Moody avenue. A good number was present and a delicious menu was served at 7 o'clock at a table beautifully appointed in tones expressive of the season.

Birthday Surprise

A delightful party was held Saturday evening when a group of high school students assembled at the home of Kirk Pattison, 718 Court street, as a surprise, to help him celebrate his seventeenth birthday.

Music, dancing and games of various kinds kept the young people busy during the evening hours and Kirk was presented with a handsome gift, as a token of esteem from his chums.

Mrs. R. H. Pattison and daughter, Edith, served refreshments at a late hour.

Large Audience Hears Music Club Oratorio

An unusual program of oratorio music was presented Monday evening, December 14, at 8 o'clock in the First Christian church by The Music club. Mrs. D. Duff Scott was hostess on this occasion.

Outstanding in many ways was the beautiful rendition of the oratorio "St. Paul" by Mendelssohn, which was sung by the church quartet. Rarely does one have the opportunity to hear this lovely oratorio as sung by the quartet personnel—Mrs. Henry G. Schenck soprano, Miss Rebecca Garvin contralto, R. E. Johns baritone, Samuel Lewis tenor and director, with Mrs. Paul Browne Patterson at the organ. Those present were impressed with the infinite pains which were taken to give every number with exquisite finesse.

A short prologue to the oratorio was spoken by the Rev. G. S. Bennett in his usual pleasing voice. The chorus numbers were well delivered, the voices blending as one. Sympathetic accompaniments were played by Mrs. Paul Browne Patterson. For her offering she rendered "Adoration" by Barowski. This favorite number has seldom been heard played with finer interpretation.

"Jerusalem, Thou That Killest the Prophets" was sung with distinction by Mrs. Schenck, revealing a voice of excellent quality and good range. A combination of pleasing personality, warmth of tone and clear enunciation marked the singing of Mr. Johns. Probably the loveliest contralto aria is "But the Lord Is Mindful of His Own." The rich warm voice of Miss Garvin sang this impressing all.

Mr. Lewis is to be congratulated on his training of the quartet. His rendition of "Be Thou Faithful Unto Death" was excellently done as his voice was heard to especially fine advantage.

The church was beautifully decorated in greens and choice chrysanthemums. The ushers, Mrs. D. Duff Scott, Mrs. Paul Welsh, Mrs. Rachel Taylor, Mrs. William J. Caldwell, Miss Ruth Drescher, Mrs. Robert E. Fleming, Mrs. Howard Meehan and Miss Barbara Schulz, were attractively attired in various hued evening dresses.

All who were responsible to any degree for the success of this wonderful performance were graciously paid by the appreciation of the vast audience.

The free will offering, approximately $70, was the sum realized to be turned over to the mayor's relief.

OFFICERS CLUB YULETIDE PARTY

Members of the Officers Club of Review 98 of the W. B. A. held their regular meeting Monday evening in the home of Miss Anna Patterson, with Mrs. Mina Davis and Mrs. Ira Taylor as joint hostesses, and twenty-seven present.

This meeting marked the Christmas party for the club and the Yuletide decorations were effectively used throughout the home, with a large Christmas tree adding its brilliant glory to the setting, and the glowing lights shown down upon a pile of gifts, which were distributed among the members when Santa Claus made his appearance.

Mrs. Hattie Nowling presided at the business meeting, when matters of importance to the organization were taken up.

A social period ensued with five hundred and bingo as features and lovely prizes for high scores were awarded Mrs. Margaret Sherbine and Mrs. Irene Gorley; the bingo awards were made to Mrs. Gertrude Morrison and Mrs. Virginia Norton. The balloon contest was won by Mrs. Myrtle Rhorer and Mrs. Carrie Klingensmith.

Mrs. Ada R. Stone and Mrs. Anna Moore of Butler were out of town guests.

The Yuletide suggestions were carried out in the menu of refreshments served.

SHENANGO CHOIR YULETIDE PARTY

The choir members of Shenango Chapter No. 333, Order of the Eastern Star, enjoyed their annual Christmas party on Monday evening in the home of Mrs. A. M. Stump of North Jeiferson street with Mrs. Charles Stritmater and Miss Jean Jackson as joint hostesses.

Various games and contests were the diversions of the evening, prizes being awarded Mrs. George W. Weddle, Mrs. Charles E. Allen and Mrs. W. E. Clark.

The home was artistically decorated throughout in the seasons colors and an illuminated Christmas tree added to the attractiveness. Poinsettias and slender red tapers graced the tables arranged for the exchange of "box lunches" and Christmas gifts, which proved to be the outstanding feature of merriment.

Special guests were Mrs. Helen Stone Ramsey, district deputy grand matron, Mrs. George W. Weddle, worthy matron and Mrs. Charles E. Allen, associate matron, Mrs. Stanley Tresser, Mrs. Charles H. Young and Miss Marjorie Rhodes all past matrons of Shenango chapter, and Miss Marian Wilson.

Speaks In Youngstown

Monday evening Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Finefrock, Mrs. Russel Hoffmeister and Mr. and Mrs. Frank Hoffmeister of this city, accompanied Russell Hoffmeister, of 308 Lafayette street, to Youngstown, where he was the speaker at a benefit performance in the Youngstown College auditorium.

Mr. Hoffmeister is a legal student in the college and was selected for his wittiness and cleverness of entertainment to give the address, which was a humorous one.

The audience was held in throes of laughter from the beginning to the end of the discourse, which burlesqued the values of a college education.

Ace-Hi Club

The Ace Hi Bridge Club was entertained Monday evening in the home of Amelda Ruby, East Brook, for the regular session.

Bridge was in play during the evening and high score prize was awarded Mrs. Louise Patterson.

Dainty refreshments, served at the small tables, which were prettily decorated in Christmas tones, closed the evening.

Miss Edna Waddington will be hostess to the members December 30, at the home of Mrs. J. L. Fink, Boyles avenue.

CURRENT EVENTS '23 PROGRAM ON MONDAY

The last meeting of the year for members of the Current Events of '23 was held at the home of Mrs. Harry Marshall, Crawford avenue, at 2:30 o'clock Monday afternoon.

Twenty-two ladies were in attendance and a very interesting program of music as well as business was enjoyed. The occasion being bundle day, a fine display of articles of wearing apparel was laid out in the reception room, and after the meeting the ladies wrapped each article and made them ready for distribution on December 23 at one of the institutions in the city. In addition to the bundles, there will be candy for the ladies and tobacco for the men; also two bushels of apples for their treat. A real Christmas party is anticipated.

Good reports were given by the various committees and a nice order of towels made by the blind ladies turned in.

Mrs. M. R. Newberry, chairman of the music committee, had charge of the program. The club sang "Silent Night," after which Mrs. W. H. Shipler gave a Christmas reading, "The Cobbler and His Gifts"; Mrs. Starke and Miss Kathryn Newberry gave two piano duets, and Miss Newberry sang two vocal selections, "All the World in Love" and "A Chinese Lyric Absence," accompanied by Mrs. Starke on the piano. Mrs. Newberry introduced Miss Violet Shuler who pleased with two beautiful piano solos.

A number of the ladies are planning to attend the party on December 22 at the Epworth M. E. church given by the Lions club for the blind.

Adjournment followed, and their next meeting will take place on January 11, 1932, at the home of Mrs. Charles Miller, 1706 East Washington street.

Mrs. Stuart Cope entertained twenty little folks in her home on Cunningham avenue on a recent afternoon, honoring her daughter Claribell, it being her ninth birthday anniversary. The hours were spent informally with games and prizes were awarded to Mary Ruth Turner and Anna Vargo.

At a selected hour, the guests were served a delicious lunch at a table prettily arranged with a large birthday cake in the center, with pink and white as the predominating tones. Mrs. Cope was assisted by Mrs. Homer Miles.

A special guest was Junior Miles.

Those who participated included Leah Kerr, Cecelia Turner, Viola Taylor, Jean Turner, Mary Ruth Turner, Helen Falls, Gladys Reed, Margaret Falls, Shuly Potter, Jean Louise Wright, Margaret Davis, Gloria Pauline, Marilyn Eckles, Betty Cope, Frances Cope, Anna Vargo, Anna Lombardo, Juanita Lewis and the honored one, who received a number of lovely gifts in memento of the day.

B. P. W. CLUB HAS CHRISTMAS PARTY

With Santa Claus there in person, a perfect entertainment, light refreshments and a jolly crowd—the annual Christmas party of the Business and Professional Women's club of New Castle could not help being the happy event it was.

Each bringing a toy to exchange, a half hundred members of the club met in the Y. W. C. A. Green room Monday evening at 8 o'clock and enjoyed a party which certainly measured up to the usual standard maintained by this club. The room was delightfully decorated with red and green twisted streamers over which icicles were draped, and in the corner were small lighted Christmas trees. On the small tables there stood red candles tied with bows of green.

The club members had a great time guessing who Santa really was, and they finally agreed on the correct opinion that it was no other than W. R. Short. Mr. Short carried off his part of the program in a splendid manner and added to the merry tone of the event. He distributed gifts at the close of the evening. The gifts were unwrapped and the club members delighted themselves for a half hour playing with drums, tops, and baby dolls. Then the gifts were wrapped again, left on the table to be given to needy children through the Associated Charities.

Outside talent prevailed on the program, which was presented as follows:

Christmas songs—by club, led by Miss Nance Pugh.

Greetings—by social committee, Mrs. David Nesbit, Mrs. Clara Balch, Miss Jessie Jenkins and Mrs. Sara Hickok.

Solo—Mrs. Paul Weller, accompanied by Mrs. Katherine Allen

Tap dancing—Dorothy McElroy, Anita Hamilton accompanied by Elizabeth Owens.

CHRISTMAS PARTY FOR CIRCLE '06

Mrs. John Ingham of Neshannock boulevard entertained at the regular session of The Reading Circle of '06 in her home Monday afternoon. Thirty members were present and one guest, Mrs. A. B. Carroll.

This meeting was in the form of a Christmas party and proved most delightful. The committee in charge of the program, and other arrangements as well, included Mrs. P. N. Brest, Mrs. E. H. McNees, Mrs. J. L. McConahy, Mrs. Clyde Saunders and Mrs. John Ingham.

Following a period of entertainment, delicious refreshments were served the members. A novel feature was the "fishing pond" idea, when each member was given a fishing rod, and pulling out a Christmas package from an artificial pond. Other games were also enjoyed.

The adjourned to meet again with Mrs. W. E. Brown, 507 South Walnut street, on January 11, 1932.

ART CLUB MEMBERS CHRISTMAS TEA

The Art Club members will gather on Thursday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock in the home of Mrs. A. C. McCoy, Park Avenue, for their Christmas Tea event, in charge of Mrs. E. L. Stitzinger. Roll call will be responded to with "Christmas Quotation" and following the usual routine, a program under the direction of Mrs. W. W. Sniff will be in progress.

Marriage Of Interest

Of interest to New Castle folks is the marriage of Miss Helen Black of Grove City and James F. Malone Jr., of Pittsburgh, which was performed Monday morning at 10:30 o'clock in the Penn Hotel. The impressive ring ceremony was witnessed by thirty guests. Dr. W. E. Purvis, the Grove City pastor, officiated.

The bride is the daughter of A. G. Black, and was a graduate of the Grove City high school and of the West Penn hospital in Pittsburgh. She was a Mercer county nurse. The groom, son of James Malone, a prominent attorney of Pittsburgh, graduated from Duquesne University.

Honored on Birthday.

Mrs. P. W. Griffin of Bessemer entertained a group of little folks in her home at Bessemer yesterday afternoon from 2 to 4 o'clock honoring her little daughter, Sally Ann, who became one year old. The hours were kept lively with different kinds of amusements, and before going home the little ones were served a dainty menu at the dining room table. The centerpiece was a large birthday cake and other novelties, carrying out the idea., Pink and white tones prevailed.

Those present were Dolores Martin, Joseph Martin, Jr., Frank Dixon Campbell, Jr., Jack Hedegore, Helen Smith, Mary Lou Montgomery, Arlene Glasgow, Richard Kanengeiser, Hope Chaddock, Jean Benson, Rolland Nord and the honored one, who received many beautiful gifts.

HOME MARKET FOR CHRISTMAS TREES

EVERY third or fourth family in the United States has a Christmas tree, according to the Department of Commerce at Washington, which computes the annual purchases at 5,000,000 to 10,000,000 trees. Certainly the range in this estimate is wide enough to forestall refutation based on greater precision. New England and New York are credited with furnishing the eastern supply.

The Department of Forests and Waters at Harrisburg puts the annual holiday consumption of trees in this state at 1,500,000. Since the federal census found 1,922,000 families in Pennsylvania, the ratio of trees used here is evidently much higher than elsewhere, even with a liberal allowance for community trees, church trees and those used commercially for decorative purposes. With only a twelfth of the national population Pennsylvania accounts for 15 to 30 per cent of the purchases.

Yet scarcely a third of the state's consumption is cut within its boundaries. Even Nova Scotia and British Columbia contribute to the Christmas trees sold here. Opportunities for cultivating the home market are obvious. Thousands of acres of farm land sold for deliquent taxes would be admirably adapted to the crop, which matures for holiday purposes in five to twelve years. Conservationists have no quarrel with this programme, since "thinning out" is a necessary process in silviculture and the culls often serve the Christmas need admirably. Penn's Woods ought to meet the demands of its own people and have an exportable surplus. Locally grown evergreens remain fresh longer than those which traverse hundreds of freight miles to the milder climate of the region.

TURKEY FOR THE CONVICTS

An angry correspondent, writing to the New York Times, notes that the prisoners at Sing Sing Prison have been enjoying a turkey dinner. He feels that with so many of the unemployed wandering about it is a bit disturbing to find the inmates being treated with such consideration, and adds: "The limit has certainly been reached when honest men starve for plain bread and convicts eat luxuries."

There is a modicum of justification for this outburst. When men are imprisoned because of their offenses against society, the state is still under the obligation of seeing that they are decently clad, fed and sheltered; but there is no reason why they should be given all the comforts of home. Perhaps there is a happy medium.

TOMATOE'S RISE

Consider the tomato.

Born of low estate, it was early suspected of poisonous possibilities and acquired a shady reputation as the "love apple." Scorned by society, it hardly knew the color of a table cloth.

But there came a time when cheap ingredients for soup were at a premium so somebody dumped a basket of tomatoes into the pot and found the flavor delicious. Its fortune was made, and its place in polite society assured.

Proud of its success as a self-made fruit, the tomato went along for years, without much change in its fortunes and content with its niche in middle class circles, when some genius mixed its juice into a cocktail and found it delicious. That was its passport into the "400" of fruitland.

All this may be only the stuff of which vanity is made as far as the tomato is concerned, but to the tomato grower it is prosperity.

Why doesn't man put his boasted ingenuity to work doing for cotton, wheat, corn and dairy products what has been done for the once lowly Lycopersicon? A lot more could be accomplished in that direction than through farm boards, farm loans, equalization fees and debentures. What agriculture needs is more science and less politics.

LYNCHINGS INCREASE

Old Judge Lynch is sitting on the "bench" with unusual frequency in the South. Much law was resorted to oftener in 1930 than for several years and the 1931 list of lynchings will not be flattering to the South.

This unexpected turn of events is discouraging and dismaying to organizations and individuals working to abolish for all time in civilized America the barbarous and lawless lynching. A gradual decrease in mob murders for several years up to 1929 had led the country to believe that lynch law was slowly but inevitably being abolished.

None can say with certainty whether the present trend is permanent and that mob outrages are returning to popular favor, but that portion of the population, which is not susceptible to mob psychology and does not place itself above the law and constituted authority, is hopeful that it is but an epidemic that is one of the complications of the depression.

It is a significant fact that states having the highest percentage of illiteracy also have the highest lynching average over any period of years. By and large the mob bent on taking the law into its own hands is made up of the most lawless element in the community, an element that cannot be trusted with authority in any degree.

States contributing to the increase in lynching can recover the valuable ground already lost if their governments are strong and courageous enough to treat the ringleaders as murderers under the law.

A boaster is a next-door neighbor to a liar.

The present grief is always of the first magnitude.

Vanity is sometimes cured by having a photograph taken.

The back of a clock, like some men, is always behind time.

Keeping Books on Friendship
If You Had a Million
Finding a Crook

By MARSHALL MASLIN

I used to know a man who said: "I never keep books on friendship." . . . Nor did he. He never seemed to remember that he had done a favor for this man or for that. He did something for you and forgot it. If you did something for him, his gratitude was not "a lively anticipation of favors to come." . . . And when he died, his funeral was enormous and those who wept were from underworld to upperworld and all spaces in between.

When we begin to argue, "I owe it to myself to—" we are on dangerous ground. When we can think of no better excuse than that, it is usually better to do nothing. . . . Because we owe less to ourselves than we do to other people.

One of the pleasantest of all occupations is to plan delightfully just what we WOULD do if we had a Million Dollars. . . . But it is better at such a time not to wonder if the people who do have a Million Dollars are as happy as we think we would be if we had that much. . . . That thought spoils the fun.

Two men had a quarrel. It started with a little thing and expanded. . . One was hurt and angered. . . . The other was angry because the other was angry. . . . The anger bounced back and forth between them like a shout between high canyon walls. One of the angry fellows suddenly remembered sitting in a chair in a mirrored barber shop and seeing himself reflected hundreds of times on the walls. . . . The quarrel seemed just as silly. . . . He laughed and explained. . . . Both laughed and the quarrel was over.

In Lincoln Steffens' life he tells of sitting down deliberately in a train to "find the crook in himself." He had been writing for years about bad men, grafters, bosses, bribers, and he wondered if he was honest as he had thought he was. . . . After careful searching he discovered that he was something of a crook, too, because sometimes he would twist the truth to fit his own arguments. . . . And after he had found the crooked spot in his own soul, he was a happier man.

* * *

I saw these words carved in stone, "Wisdom consists of knowing what to do next. Virtue is doing it." . . . There is no goodness, then, without action.

NERVOUS ERRORS

Do you have periods when you make many mistakes?

The harder you try to be accurate the more errors creep into your work?

You are in doubt about matters, become nervous where you should be positive in action and you wobble mentally, consequently, physically.

You find the same condition exists in your recreational periods.

You are a very uncertain partner in a game.

Probably your nervous system is not under control.

Having made errors you think too much about the mistakes you have made to correct your physical condition, as you should, to be able to concentrate on what you are doing.

Calm down first; then you can think clearly.

Until you can master yourself enough to relax and calm down you will continue to mortify yourself and annoy your associates.

There is nothing you can do which can justify the purely nervous state in which you find yourself at times.

Easier said than done, you think when you are told to "key down."

If you are the boss of this sort of person, don't talk to the victim in a way to aggravate nervousness but give your instructions in a cool and simple manner and lessen the tension of the person under you.

THE PROBLEM OF PARENTS

These shall be going on
Long after we are gone:
Folly and theft and wrong,
Laughter and dance and song
And ever will be retold
Man's struggle for fame and gold.

What of our children, when
They shall be women and men?
Warmed by the self-same fires,
Stirred by the same desires,
By similar instinct moved,
In what shall they be improved?

Since all that has brought us pain
And sorrow will still remain
Our task is to fit them best
With courage to meet the test
To teach them to cope with the things
Which life to each one of us brings.

They must be tutored to act
Not to some whim, but the fact!
Not to some fanciful life,
But to years of temptation and strife,
With knowledge of right and of wrong,
So that they in their day shall be strong.

GOOD JOB IN PENNSYLVANIA

Two men who had been neighbors about 20 years met recently. "Well, Bill," said Sam, "how are you and how are all the folks?" "Just fine," remarked Sam. "By the way, Sam, where is your son, John, and is he doing well?" "Oh yes," replied Sam, "John has done real well the last few years. You see he has been in Pennsylvania voting for a living."

Intelligent people are those who face the facts as they are, without any effort to "kid" themselves.

To believe that certain things are true because one desires them to be true is stupid and childish.

The sane and practical way to solve any public problem is first to discover and eliminate the dreams that are hopeless, so that no time and energy will be wasted on them.

To recognize the truth, bitter though it may be, is to avoid the chief causes of failure. A correct diagnosis is half of the cure.

Thus any intelligent effort to solve the liquor problem must disregard the things that might be and concentrate on the things that are.

Back of the problem, complicating and perpetuating it, are two hard facts that cannot be evaded or wished away.

The first is that the 18th Amendment, making an outlaw of liquor, is in the Constitution hard and fast and will remain there.

It will remain because the inland States, largely rural and almost wholly dry, are sufficient in number to thwart any effort to remove or change it.

Each of these States contains many people who drink and many people who make and sell liquor, but the majority in each is uncompromisingly dry and is sufficiently zealous and militant to control any Legislature or Constitutional Convention that may be called upon to reconsider Prohibition.

These States, containing much less than one third of the national population, nevertheless have the power to keep their definition of righteousness in the Constitution, and they will keep it there until the crack of doom.

It takes years and millions of dollars and the fervor of a moral crusade to amend our Constitution. Appetite can't do it.

The second hard fact is that large cities and boarder regions disregard the 18th Amendment, and neither this nor any subsequent Administration is likely to employ sufficient force to impose Prohibition on them against their will.

We have, then, the assurance of perpetual Prohibition, effective in the regions that desire it and without effect in the more populous centers where public opinion resents it. We have, in short, local option.

But with Prohibition in the Constitution to stay, and the border regions supporting an outlaw traffic that has no standing in court, we have a rich and powerful criminal element whose monopoly of the liquor business is guaranteed by the Constitution!

That is the real problem. And some how the border regions must solve it by themselves, for the inland States, content with things as they are, never will give an inch to change the present status.

Too much individuality makes a mess of things. Look at the coat of tan that has scattered as freckles.

Well, that's sumpin' anyhow.

He was Coxey's right or left hand man.

Journalism In Los Angeles Called Force In City Growth

Observance Of Half-Century Mark For Times Draws Attention Of Country To Newspaper's Influence In Building Great Community

The newspaper's share in the development of a city is recognized in the tributes paid by the American press to the Los Angeles Times as the publication observed its 50th anniversary, after a history which parallels the development of Southern California's metropolis.

"There were 250 copies in that first issue," recalls the OAKLAND TRIBUNE, commenting on the "small beginnings" of both city and newspaper, "and the city had a population of 11,183, of which three-fourths were Mexicans. Today Los Angeles is the Pacific Coast's largest city, with 1,238,048 inhabitants, and The Times, with its daily circulation of more than 183,000 is recognized as one of the strongest influences for the community's growth and progress. The newspaper not only grew up with its city, but kept consistently a little ahead."

"The fifty years of the existence of The Times," according to the WASHINGTON EVENING STAR, "spans one of the most extraordinary community developments in the history of the world," and the paper's success "has been in part the result of the development of the city," in which it "has become a powerful instrument for civic advancement." The Star's tribute concludes:: "The prosperity of The Times, so richly deserved by its activities, its maintenance of the highest standards and its devotion to the interests of the community which it has represented so ably during the half-century of mutual growth, in itself attests the appreciation of a great body of people, of the merits of this splendid exponent of American journalism."

"The interval of this newspaper's publication," declares the PORTLAND OREGON JOURNAL, "is a chapter so fascinating that it belongs to romance, a record of achievement so great that it belongs to history." Observing that city and paper "hold many things in common," The Journal declares that "both are the product of a dream Harrison Gray Otis, distributing the handful of the first copies of the four-page Times, dreamed of a metropolitan daily that should some time be. The founders of Los Angeles looked upon a sleepy frontier town edging the desert of southern California and dreamed of a metropolis. The dreams are today dreams come true. The metropolis and the metropolitan daily are each greater than the staunch hopes that carried them forward the two are interwoven in the realization." The Portland paper adds: "The Journal, often different in policy with The Times, offers its congratulations and its recognition that this growth at one extreme of the Pacific Coast is positive stimulus to the other. We go along together."

"A city may not be considered an entity," avers the WORCHESTER TELEGRAM, "without consideration of its press. Throughout the amazing history of Los Angeles, The Times has been forward in the struggle for municipal greatness. It has been a leader in civic enterprise. Its influence is widespread in California and all up and down the Pacific coast. That influence has been exercised for just half a century to the benefit of a land of great opportunity. The Times has been the articulate expression of the will which made Los Angeles great. Even before Los Angeles became a city of a million and more inhabitants, before Los Angeles became the second seaport of the country, before Los Angeles had been recognized as a phenomenon of growth, The Times was known and respected in America. It is pleasing to know that the Times, which has served Los Angeles with fidelity for 50 years, has seen its optimism justified, and can enjoy in vigorous maturity the fruits of great accomplishment."

"The paper has grown and prospered with the city is serves," says the ROCK ISLAND ARGUS, "until today it is recognized as one of the outstanding journals of America, to which the press of the country is happy and proud to extend heartiest congratulations." The Argus holds that The Times "has provided the community the leadership it required in order to weld together the constructive forces of the city." As to the results that paper offers the summary: "Fifty years ago it was frequently declared that Los Angeles, devoid of raw materials, fuel, transportation or markets, was forever doomed to remain an inconsequential local trading center and tourist resort. Today, the Los Angeles area has an oil production capacity of one million barrels a day, it has cheap and abundant natural gas fuel, it mines 35 different minerals within a radius of 40 miles, it grows many diversified and highly priced crops, it hold fifth place in the number of industrial establishments, and it has created the second port in the United States in oceanborne traffic. These are accomplishments of a commercial and in-

EXPERIENCE SHOWS THAT

The most difficult lessons we learn are those which experience might have saved us.
It is always hard to learn from another man's experience.
Success is due less to luck than to enthusiasm.
Happiness seldom comes to those who pursue it.
Work is the key that unlocks the door to the greatest treasures.
The winners are those who have forgotten themselves in their work.
God helps those who are busy at the job themselves.

Money Obession Cited As Greatest Obstacle To Christian Success

What People Vitally Care About Is What Counts, Says Pastor, Urging Concern For Human Kind

By
DR. HARRY EMERSON FOSDICK
Pastor of Riverside Church, New York City.

The fact that the world cares more for money than for the really desirable values of life is the greatest obstacle to Christian success today, as it was in the time of Christ.

The most important kind of religion in the world is not that which can be defined in a set of theoretical beliefs, but that which must be defined in terms of a scale of values. No one can read the Sermon on the Mount intelligently without seeing that Jesus was mainly interested not in what men theoretically believe, but in what they vitally care about.

He wanted to know, to use his own words, where a man's treasure is, and where in consequence his heart is also. This kind of religion is far more important than any other kind that can be imagined.

Tell us that a man is a Baptist, or a Presbyterian, a Catholic, or a Jew, or a Protestant, that he is a conservative, or a modernist in his theology, and how little that reveals about him! But tell us what he genuinely cares about in daily life and that gives us great insight.

Nothing ever gets done on earth until enough people care about it. That is why, in His endeavor to get men to care about the welfare of human personality and the brotherhood of men and nations, Jesus found in money his most powerful competitor. People come to care for it supremely.

The greatest need of the world today is for men and women who have made the most and the best out of what another has called "their native capacity for noble cares." Unless we wish to lose the meaning of life ourselves and condemn our children to a disordered world in which living is not worth while, we would better care especially about international peace, economic justice, civic righteousness and, at the heart of all, high-minded character.

Richards Bill Loses In House

HARRISBURG, Pa., Dec. 15.—While the Senate last night was giving almost unanimous approval of the Talbot bill appropriating ten million for relief, the House went on to defeat the last of the three revenue bills by Governor Pinchot, the one-cent gasoline tax sponsored by Rep. Bart Richards of Lawrence County. The bill was defeated 191 to 7.

The bill would have imposed during the next fifteen months a one-cent gasoline tax.

British Ready To Start Debt Revision Talk

Await Report Of Young Plan On Germany's Capacity To Pay

WERE READY TO PAY SUM TODAY

By LINTON WELLS
International News Service Staff Correspondent

LONDON, Dec. 15.—The British government intends to open the question of revision of war debts and reparations shortly after the Young plan advisory committee now meeting at Basel, Switzerland reports on Germany's capacity to pay.

Exact manner in which Great Britain will address itself to the United States and other powers has not been determined. But Great Britain will ask what she considers "An equitable readjustment," fully realizing that her move will encounter bitter opposition in the United States.

Ready To Pay

This information was received today from an authoritative source at the same time it was discovered the treasury fully intended paying to the United States today the $94,000,000 installment due on the British war debt. Despite assurances from Washington such payment was unnecessary pending congressional approval of the Hoover debt moratorium.

The treasury intended to make this payment as "A gesture of good faith" and to maintain British "honor and credit." Actually the step was intended to influence American opinion in favor of debt revision by demonstrating Britain's integrity and maintaining a semblance of her willingness to pay under any conditions.

Big London bankers, however, flatly refused to consider such a proposal. They pointed out that the British gold reserves total barely 110,000,000 pounds and argued that payment of $94,000,000 to the United States today would have wrecked the pound and possibly have recipitated a catastrophic break in the world's securities markets.

Youthful Banker Being Hunted In Taking Of $57,000

Young Employe Of Bank At Racine, Wisconsin, Short $57,000 And Is Missing

(International News Service)

RACINE, Wis., Dec. 15.—Charles Harvey, 19, a diligent youth who spent his leisure hours studying the banking business, was sought today as the embezzler of some $57,000.

Young Harvey, a $70 a month teller at the American trade and Savings bank, was last seen Saturday night when he carried his money box into the vault at the close of the day's business.

The box was supposed to contain more than $37,000 in currency and coin. When the youthful teller failed to report for work the box was opened. Only $200 in silver was found.

dustrial nature which make the growth of this western metropolis one of the marvels of all time."

"By reason of its climate, by annexation, by municipal enterprise," states the PROVIDENCE JOURNAL, "Los Angeles has risen to be the fifth city in the United States. By reaching arbitrarily out to the Pacific and developing a harbor there, Los Angeles has established at San Pedro one of the greatest ports of the United States. It has 40 miles of waterfront, including 12 miles of municipal wharves; more than 8000 ships arrive every year; the port cargo valuation is over a billion dollars; the port is first in the country in intercoastal tonnage, second in exports to foreign countries, and third in total commerce; it is served by 168 steamship companies, including 70 oil and 68 lumber carriers; it is the western terminus of three transcontinental railroads; it serves a manufacturing district of more than 6000 operating plants, and it is the world's greatest oil exporting and lumber importing harbor."

"To increase a hundredfold in fifty years," remarks the NEW YORK SUN, "is a remarkable record, particularly in a city which in 1881 had no raw materials, fuel, transportation or markets. Now it has all these and has even reached its arm to the sea. The Times has played a large part in this amazing rise." Of the founder of the paper, that journal says: "Harrison Gray Otis was a man whose courage shone brightly, whether in war—and he served in both the Civil and the Spanish—or in his fight against the trades union tyranny that tried to overcome him. That courage, too, was vital to the building of The Times and its city."

Medical Association Reports Results Of New Cancer Treatment

Observers Of Effects Of "Cure" For Malignant Disease Are Disappointed, Dr. Clendening Alleges

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

The medical profession has at last been presented with the results, in malignant, advance cases, of the Coffee-Humber cancer treatment which attracted so much attention a year ago.

The number of patients observed was sufficient to warrant conclusions 415. They were observed for a sufficient period of time—over a year.

The results are discouraging, according to a report by Doctor R. H. Harris published in The Journal of the American Medical Association. In the period of observation 63 per cent of the patients died. None of the remaining ones could be said to be benefited. The conclusion presented to the medical profession is: "Cure of malignant disease in patients with advanced cancer, in view of the experienced of the patients in this series, cannot as a result of the use of the extract."

The fading of this hope is the more disappointing because such extravagant praise was accorded the method. This praise did not originate among quacks, but among members of the medical profession in good standing. There is no question that Drs. Humber and Coffey have always been perfectly sincere in their belief in the value of their method.

As one looks back on the excitement caused by the news when it was first announced, one cannot help reflecting on the lack of judgment that affects great masses of people on such occasions.

It is natural to have expectations exaggerated in the breasts of those who are suffering from such a disease as cancer, when they hear of a new method of cure. It is no wonder then that people came to California by droves to obtain the chance of this relief—they came in trains, airplanes, automobiles and filled the streets outside the hospitals where the treatment was being given.

What is so much more surprising is that physicians who were admitted to the clinic told enthusiastic stories of the success of the method. I was visited at the time by several physicians who had just returned from California. They had been admitted to the clinics and every courtesy was shown them and every facility extended for observing the patients. They told stories of cancers on the face, where they could easily be observed sloughing out entirely, leaving healthy tissue behind. And even after several weeks' observation they felt no doubt of the enormous value of the discovery.

It only goes to show that when we are dealing with something that human beings ardently desire to have happen they are persuaded to believe the best on very little evidence. The experienc has occurrd over and over again again concerning cancer, and doubtless will be repeated many times in the future.

In the meantime let it be said that solid and effective work is being done to make the cure of cancer far more a possibility today than ever before. At present any attack on cancer must be made with many weapons—surgery, the X-ray, electro-coagulation and radium—being the most valuable. As was said by a prominent surgeon, "If you want to know how much progress has been made in the treatment of cancer, ask any physician of experience whether he would prefer to have had a cancer 30 years ago or today." The answer, of course, would be that the chances of cure today are about 30 per cent better than 30 years ago.

EDITOR'S NOTE: Six pamphlets by Dr. Clendening can now be obtained by sending 10 cents in coin, for each, and a self-addressed, stamped envelope, to Dr. Logan Clendening, in care of this paper, or Central Press Association, 1435 East Twelfth street, Cleveland, O. The pamphlets are: "Indigestion and Constipation," "Reducing and Gaining," "Infant Feeding," "Instructions for the Treatment of Diabetes," "Feminine Hygiene" and "The Care of the Hair and Skin."

Armstrong County Crops Suffer From Heavy Fall Of Rain

Widespread Damage To Crops Results From Streams Being Swollen Above Banks

(International News Service)

KITTANNING, Pa., Dec. 15.—Heavy rains in Armstrong county during the past 48 hours resulted in widespread damage to crops and dwellings, a checkup revealed today.

Small streams in the county are swollen above their banks and in several instances have completely washed out late wheat crops.

Rising at the rate of one-tenth foot per hour, the river early today had almost reached a two-foot stage. Operation of locks on the Allegheny river was accomplished with great difficulty, rivermen reported.

Work of dismantling the old bridge at Kittanning was halted because of the high river stage. Two dredges employed in the razing operations were tied up.

The name of the hunter who killed it is not known, but he was in a car bearing an Ohio license, according to Mr. Wilson.

Carelessness Adds Many To Death Toll In State

"The great pity about many of the deaths occurring these days is that they need not have happened if the victims had been more considerate of their health and lives than they were. Indeed, the great barrier which has been erected against public health officials and modern preventive medicine is the personal-conduct one; unfortunately this can only be removed by the people themselves. Health administrators are helpless," states Dr. Theodore B. Appel, state secretary of health.

"High-speed living, excessive use of stimulants, lack of sufficient rest, inadequate or immoderate food intake and absence of proper exercise all demand their eventual tool against the human system. Based upon performance, the present-day stresses and strains evidently were not anticipated when the original (and unchargeable) model for the body was determined upon.

"To attempt, for example, to maintain a 90-mile-an-hour body-speed under the inspiration of a similar performance by the automobile is sheer folly—a pastime, however, which is more generally indulged in than most persons realize. Physical crashes inevitably occur.

"Carelessness against he inroads of disease is also a predominating factor in the needless death rate. Because of criminal and indifference to such matters as wet feet, drafts, improper clothing and unwise home heating, many thousands annually succumb to respiratory diseases.

"Again, an improper appreciation of the deadly power of the automobile is uselessly snuffing out the lives of ever-increasing thousands—a pitiable example of machine backfiring against the brain creating it.

"As a matter of fact, it can be safely said that the great scourges to which humanity less than a half century ago was a target have, thanks to preventive medicine and modern scientific research, been laid low. Therefore, the big facotr yet to be discovered by the average person is that health and long life at the prevent time are to a large extent a performance problem on the part of the individual.

"Nature's rules, though strict, are not harsh. It follows that a little less affection for present-day killing conduct and more personal attention to the basic rules of health is urgently required.

"Public health officials have done and will continue to do their part. However, long, healthy and vigorous life in the final analysis demands personal, intelligent and daily attention. Death rates of the middle aged and older persons will unfortunately be maintained unless this fact can be sufficiently impressed upon the consciousness of everyone."

To End a Cough In a Hurry, Mix This at Home

To quickly end stubborn coughs due to colds, it is important to soothe the inflamed membranes, get rid of the germs and also to aid the system inwardly to help throw off the trouble.

For these purposes, here is a home-made medicine, far better than anything you could buy at 3 times the cost. From any druggist, get 2½ ounces of Pinex. Pour this into a pint bottle, and add plain granulated sugar syrup or strained honey to fill up the pint. This takes but a moment, saves money, and makes a remedy so effective that you will never do without, once you have used it. Keeps perfectly, and children like it.

This simple remedy does three necessary things. First, it loosens the germ-laden phlegm. Second, it soothes away the inflammation. Third, it is absorbed into the blood, where it acts directly on the bronchial tubes. This explains why it brings such quick relief, even in the obstinate coughs which follow cold epidemics.

Pinex is a highly concentrated compound of Norway Pine, containing the active agent of creosote, in a refined, palatable form, and known as one of the greatest medicinal agents for severe coughs and bronchial irritations.

Do not accept a substitute for Pinex. It is guaranteed to give prompt relief or money refunded.

Punishing Children For Hard Luck Is Declared Senseless

By GARRY C. MYERS, PH. D.
Head Division Parental Education, Cleveland College, Western Reserve University.

Cy is six. One evening he was coming home from the grocer's on his skooter-bike carrying a bottle of milk, when he dropped it, scattering the milk and broken glass upon the street.

The lad was crying when I saw him. He said he was afraid to go home. "My mother will whip me," he sobbed. Bot for seeming to be meddlesome. I had gone home with him, to plead his cause. As it was, I helped him to clear the sidewalk of the debris and urged him to go right home and tell exactly how the trouble happened. I do hope the boy was not beaten, not even scolded. Such an accident could have happened to any one. His mother surely knew that he had gone on his skooter-bike and, therefore, that carrying milk on it was an undertaking very hazardous to milk.

Came to our house a girl of seven, one day, with dress and stockings dripping wet. She was adding to her dampness by her copious tears. She begged us to let her come into the house and stay until her clothes were dry. We welcomed her, of course, but asked ourselves why any child, with such punishment already met, should have to stand in dread of more of it. She had been playing by a little pool of water when she tumbled in.

Doris tears her dress at school and approaches home in dread. Ten chances to one she faces punishment. She may have been a little careless, true. But she probably was not; and no one will ever know except, perhaps, on her own testimony. If she had been very reckless with her clothes at school she had been so with them at home. Children who constantly are having their clothes torn at school need some guidance when they are at home. They may not know the meaning of carefulness. No one may have trained them.

The boy of 18 has had an accident with the automobile he was allowed to drive. He is afraid of the consequences when he goes home. The accident might have come to anybody.

No sense in chastizing children for hard luck; no reason to assume that when they come home with wet or torn clothes, or broken property, to assume always that they need punishment or should be met by angry parents. How absurd to make a child feel afraid to come home!

Let us be sensible about such matters. Frequently "accidents" to clothes and other property ought to prompt us to give more constructive guidance of the child in our presence with the hope that his habits gained thereby will carry on away from home. If he knows we are unreasonable and unfair, he will surely take advantage of us, bye and bye, for his own protection. When we make ourselves spies and detectives he will beat us, in the long run, at our own game, and we shall have lost lofty place as parents, and reduced ourselves to the level of the sneak.

MY NEW YORK

BY JAMES ASWELL

By Central Press

NEW YORK, Dec. 15—Close inspection of the idols whom the millions would hold perfect (except, of course, for the immemorial dash of scandal to taste) reveals constantly that it is not how well a thing is done which blows breath into the bellows of success. There are hundreds of "perfect" actors and "flawless" writers who are without visible means of support this icy day.

I could summon text and chapter endlessly to illustrate my point. At random I recall that Mr. Lou Holtz, one of the most sensationally successful masters of ceremonies to pack the Palace theatre in some moons, forgot the names of two of the guest stars he was introducing at the Peacock Ball charity entertainment. He mispronounced several more.

Yet your five-star graduate m. c. would certainly make sure that his polished discourse included the names of everyone to be introduced correctly and surely uttered. He would also most likely be on the receiving instead of the sharing end of the next benefit for unemployed members of the craft.

And recently Mr. Sidney Lenz one of the acknowledged bridge wizards of all time, brought cheer to the hearts of a million hard-pressed husbands and wives by actually forgetting what suit he was playing in one hand of the match now going on—the crucial tournament of his career. Oswald Jacoby, during the same tilt, made a bid of six that was so obviously inordinate that I myself, the world's worst bridgeman saw it in the charts before I read Mr. Jacoby's good natured admission that excitement had overcome judgment momentarily.

Mere copybook precision never built pre-eminence, unless there was a manner, a mood, a personality there, too; and this is a lesson which Manhattan pounds into its children with monotonous regularity. There is perhaps food for thought in the fact that the salary of the young man who was awarded the prize for having the most perfect diction of anyone on the air is about one-twentieth that of any of half a dozen radio clowns with no diction at all.

Pittsburgh Wars On Pickpockets

Workhouse Terms Are Promised By Magistrates For All Caught By Police

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, Dec. 15.—Life for pickpockets in Pittsburgh during the holiday season is going to be just a bowl of sour grapes.

Detective inspector Frank Boyd announced that police magistrates have agreed to try all pickpockets caught during the Yule season under an antique state law charging them with being "professional thieves."

If found guilty, the statute provides they must be sent to the workhouse for 90 days, no fines allowed.

And Boyd assigned 20 detectives to the downtown district to be alert for "dips."

Asks Sentence To Stop Protest

Pittsburgh Regular Says "Guy In Workhouse" Is Jealous Of Favors

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, Dec. 15.—Tom Henry sentenced himself to ten days in the county workhouse here to stop a flood of protests against magistrate Leo P. Rothenberg, who has several times ordered Tom to the workhouse from Central Police Court.

Tom appeared one morning in the regular lineup.

As he reached the bar of justice, Magistrate Rothenberg looked up.

Reaching down, he picked up a letter. It was a protest from Joseph Hensel, doing 60 days in the workhouse, asking that his sentence be commuted so he might spend one holiday this year outside of prison. In addition, he said:

"I don't see why you send us fellows up for long terms while such a sot as Tom Henry gets only a few days."

The Magistrate handed the letter to Tom.

"I know that guy," announced Tom after a perusal. "He's jealous. Send me up for ten days and I'll call the boys together and stop that letter writing."

Tom got his request.

McSparran Predicts Democratic Downfall

State Secretary Of Agriculture And Prominent Dry Democrat Makes Statement

Says Smith And Raskob Will Have To Resign To Help Party—Favors Economic Program

By JOSEPH A. LOFTUS
International News Service Staff Correspondent

HARRISBURG, Dec. 15—Declaring that the United States is 'ripe for the formation of an independent and powerful major political party," and castigating leaders of both Republican and Democratic parties, John A. McSparran, state secretary of agriculture, today predicted defeat for the Democrats in 1932 unless they make economic rehabilitation the foundation and main plank of the party platform.

A Democrat in the cabinet of a Republican governor, a former candidate for governor and twice a delegate to Democratic national nominating conventions, McSparren declared that Alfred E. Smith and Jno. Raskob have led the party "along blind trails" and have mired the Democrats "in the morass of prohibition."

Attacks Smith-Raskob

Unless Smith and Raskob resign from the councils of the party he predicted, "the Democrats will get the darnest licking a party ever got in a two-sided fight."

McSparren did not confine his criticism and observations to the Jeffersonians.

Reproving them for 'their stubborn cleavage to the prohibition question as a paramount national issue" he turned his fire on the Republicans for "failure to cope with the existing economic chaos."

Formation of a third party, recruiting its forces from progressives of the two major parties is "the nation's sole salvation" if the Democrats fail to make economic rehabilitation the paramount issue in the coming presidential campaign, McSparren said.

Throwing Away Chance

"The Democratic party is throwing away its chance to do a great service for the nation in the rehabilitation of our economic structure, which the stand-pat element of the Republican party has so terribly abused during the last ten years," he declared.

"The Democrats can win in '32 with a dry candidate and an economic 'platform," he prophesied. "That is their only chance.

"Election of a wet president is an impossibility. In New York, or New Jersey, or even Pennsylvania the outlook for such a turnover is promising—apparently. But down south or out west it's a different story."

McSparren believes, he said, a new political alignment is necessary and he is "extremely hopeful" a new independent party will be formed.

Dry Democrat

He expressed aversion to predicting a Democratic candidate for the next presidential campaign or whether the Pennsylvania delegation to the Democratic National convention will be predominantly wet.

"You see," said he, "I'm not on the inside and don't know. I'm not a candidate for delegate this year and a lot of good Democrats won't go near the convention."

"I guess we can still refer to you, though, as a dry Democrat," one reporter offered.

"That's right," McSparren replied.

CALLS 2,000 MILES FOR MOVIE JOB

Jean Westerfield, nine-year-old Dayton, O., girl, may never be a celebrity, but it won't be her fault if she isn't. Reading in a magazine that child movie stars were needed in Hollywood, Jean lost no time in getting a cinema studio on the phone through long distance. She couldn't reach the director mentioned in the advertisement, so the telephone company obligingly cancelled the charges of $7.50 when it learned of the details of the call. Jean's parents weren't at home when she phoned.

Welfare Drive Will Continue At Pittsburgh

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, Dec. 15.—Officials today planned another continuation of the Welfare Fund drive and Allegheny County Emergency Association campaign as results announced last meeting revealed that the joint campaign was $564,000 short of the goal of $6,000,000.

The next meeting was scheduled for January 14 and officials said they hoped for success at that time.

JAMES MALONE, JR., WEDDED TO NURSE AT GROVE CITY, PA.

PITTSBURGH, Dec. 15.—James F. Malone, Jr., son of the former state secretary of property and supplies, and his bride, Miss Helen Black, of Grove City, today were enjoying an eastern honeymoon following their marriage at Grove City.

Rev. W. E. Purvis, of Grove City College, performed the ceremony. The bride is the daughter of A. G. Black, of Grove City.

Malone, a Pittsburgh attorney, is a graduate of Duquesne University.

QUEER QUESTIONS AMONG 30,000 ASKED

(International News Service)

ST. LOUIS, Dec. 15.—"Will you please help me find a tattooed lady?" and "How do you skin alligators?" These were only two of the questions among 30,000 inquiries received by the St. Louis Chamber of Commerce during the past year from persons desiring information about the city or its business institutions, according to the annual report made recently.

Among the freak requests was a letter from a school teacher in which she asked whether the Mississippi river flows into the Missouri or vice versa. A tattoooer in Kansas wrote requesting the local organization to locate a "patient" of his whom he had not finished tattooing. The "patient" was to enter a circus as a "Tattooed Lady" nad had suddenly disappeared, the chamber was informed.

PUZZLED OVER HUGE OYSTER SHELL MOUND

DAMARISCOTTA, Me., Dec. 15.—Scientists are seeking an explanation of the existence of a huge mound of fresh water oyster shells along the Damariscotta river.

Some of the shells are eight to ten inches across. No shellfish of the sort is to be found in this section. Dr. Lloyd Fisher of Bates college, theorizes that the found may antedate the glacial advances centuries ago and that the shells were left by huge birds that gathered the oysters for food and then dropped from the air to break them against rocks.

Another theory is that the mound accumulated as a result of frequent banquets of Indians at this point.

VETERAN DECLINES JOB AS DETECTIVE

BUTLER, Pa., Dec. 15.—Hardee H. Hepler of Butler, veteran of the Spanish-American war, former city tax collector and business man, was appointed by District Attorney-elect Edgar H. Negley today to be Butler county detective during his term, which begins the first Monday of January. Simeon D. Morrison of Harrisville, who was selected for the position last week, declined to assume the duties of detective for personal reasons. He also is a veteran of the Spanish-American war, having served with Negley.

NATURE LOVER'S IDEA OF HEAVEN

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, Pa., Dec. 15.—Aaron Erdman, president of the Dauphin County Agricultural Extension association, told the organization in session here what would constitute heavenly happiness for him.

It goes like this:

"My idea of Heaven is a place where I would be the owner of a ten-acre field of evergrowing sweet clover, with herds of black and white cattle peacefully grazing therein—and me sitting all day on a fence, watching them."

National Farm Outlook

By ARTHUR H. JENKINS
Editor, The Farm Journal
Written for Central Press

This question of prices is certainly one of the most complex and confusing there is. Whatever you say about prices, you have to add something like this: "But, on the other hand, that is not true if so-and-so is the case, as it often is. And if it is true, you must remember that there are important exceptions, depending partly but not wholly on such-and-such."

I am forcibly reminded of this in considering the course of farm prices, and observing with disgust that the general level of prices of all farm products at the beginning of December was about 70 per cent of what it was before the war.

That compares with a level of prices of things farmers buy that is about 25 per cent higher than before the war. It compares with a level of wages of workmen that is about twice as high as pre-war wages. It compares with a level of farm taxes that is about two and a half times as high as in 1913.

That looks very bad on the face of it, and certainly it is bad enough. But it is not quite so bad as it looks.

When you analyze the matter of farm earnings, you immediately realize that the question of prices for things sold and things bought is only part of the story. The important thing—that is, the thing that is important to the farmer—is not price per bushel or per pound, or prices at all. It is the total income of the whole family, in its relation to total expenses.

The prices of farm products are only 70 per cent of 1913. Therefore, if the farmer produced only what he produced in 1913, his income would be 30 per cent less than it was then. But as a matter of fact, farm production per family has greatly increased since 1913. Not only does the farmer get better yields per acre, but he generally farms a larger acreage.

Indeed, that is one of the important reasons for the over-production in some lines. The farmer, aiming for a certain total income for his family, has increased his production, to counteract as far as possible the declines in price per bushel and per pound.

In much the same way, the very industrial wage level is quite fictitious. City workmen are not getting twice as much money as in 1913, or anything like it. A workman's true income is his total earnings per year, and no matter how high his wage scale, if he is laid off and idle his actual earnings are zero.

Really, about the only comparison that is not subject to some sort of qualification is the item of taxes. When taxes are figured at 250 per cent of the pre-war level, believe me that is exactly what they are—two and half times as hard to pay as in 1913.

That is why there is such an outcry against them, and why farmers will positively have to see that something is done about it.

OLD VET CUTS NEW TEETH

(International News Service)

MEDFORD, Ore.—J. M. Gutches, civil war veteran credits his three brand-new teeth, cut recently, to 75 years of tobacco chewing. Gutches, who recently celebrated his 88th birthday, is one of the five survivors of his company of 100 men who fought with the 88th Ohio infantry, and he is one of the few Civil War veterans who cannot recall seeing Abraham Lincoln alive. Instead, Gutches was one of the two soldiers chosen to guard the body of the great emancipator as it lay in state in Columbus, Ohio, after Lincoln's assassination.

The surveys are being made as a preliminary step in a plan of long-time development. The largest single project to be considered is the Big Horn canon in the Yellowstone National forest, where 100,000 horsepower is said to be available.

Precedent Shattered When Congress Held Up President's Message

Legislators, Who Had Read Hoover Program In Advance Appeared In No Hurry To Receive It Officially

By CHARLES P. STEWART
Central Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Dec. 15—President Hoover's messenger with his chief's annual report on the 'state of the union" was kept waiting nearly an hour at the senate entrance the day congress convened before the lawmakers invited him to deliver the communication to them.

It was the first time in American history that such a thing ever occurred.

Officials in important executive positions (those filled by presidential appointment, such as cabinet posts) speak of it in tones of hot resentment.

Curiously enough, however, none of the administration's supporters in the senate itself raised any objection to the delay at the time. If they were unaware that the White House messenger was outside, they were the only folk in the chamber who were ignorant of it. Like the rest, they simply paid no attention to him until current business (nothing vitally urgent, either) was disposed of and a lull in the proceedings made it perfectly convenient to receive him.

As a matter of fact, there was no actual premeditation involved in the incident. Indeed, some senators who are not overly friendly to the president at that, express themselves as deeply mortified over it. Their account is that they did not realize it was occurring.

Of course there are others who did and didn't care; probably enjoyed it.

The essential lesson to be drawn from the event seems to be that few of the legislators—either senators or representatives—were greatly stirred with enthusiasm for the program outlined by Mr. Hoover.

They naturally knew what it was, each having received an advance copy of it early enough to have glanced through and mastered it in its main details. Such being the case, there was no special reason for all of them to stap in their seats during the reading of the whole of it. Still, it is customary for them to do so as a matter of politeness, but this time was an exception. Less than half of either house remained after the reading had begun. The rest left for the restaurants, their offices, homes or elsewhere.

All in all, as a state occasion, the event was decidedly clammy, but what follows promises to be sufficiently exciting to satisfy anyone.

The president and congress are poles apart in their ideas concerning the best method of dealing with the economic depression and a first-class clash appears inevitable.

Congressman Henry T. Rainey, in turning thumbs down on the presidential suggestions and announcing that the Democrats will formulate their own plan undoubtedly speaks with authority as to the house of representatives—the Democrats being in a majority there and Rainey their floor leader.

Senator Pat Harrison in making a similar declaration from the upper congressional chamber, where the Jeffersonians are a ballot short of absolute control, is not quite so secure in his position—and yet not a great deal less so, considering that the Republican progressive group of at least eight is virtually a certain Democratic voting asset on most economic issues.

Congressman Rainey, whose summary of objections to the White House financial scheme is a model of compactness, puts it that the president proposes a huge tax increase to meet an appalling shortage in government revenue, but apparently does not even desire to remedy the conditions which caused the depression and consequent deficit.

Rainey specifically is for lower tariff rates and heavier levies on big incomes.

Mr. Hoover (according to his message) as specifically opposes tariff reduction and favors, among other new taxes, so imposed as to catch the maximum number of people, weightier levies upon small incomes.

In brief, the chux of the conflict in views between President Hoover and his advisers, on the one side, and Congressman Rainey and both the Republican and Democratic progressives, on the opposite side, is this:

The administration, while agreeing that the rich ought to bear their share of the government burden, seeks particularly a "broad base" of taxation—that is to say, the spreading of the load over as many shoulders as possible.

The progressives, while recognizing the necessity of taxes for revenue raising purposes aim to impose them so as to insure the speediest practicable redistribution of swollen fortunes.

There is small room for compromise between such widely divergent philosophies.

Congress is in a position to block Mr. Hoover by refusing him the legislation he asks. All indications are that it will do it, adopting instead legislation in total contradiction of his recommendations. Thereupon Mr. Hoover will be in a position to block congress' program with his veto power, and that he will do so looks like an equally safe prediction

And then?

Why, then the country will arrive at the end of the current fiscal year June 30, 1932, with approximately a three-billion dollar deficit and no funds with which to carry on.

Marriage Still Regarded Holy By Good Women

Youth Of Today Should Be Taught To Prepare For Marriage, Says Leader

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, Dec. 15. — The "fine-grained woman" still holds marriage something holy, Dr. Henry Neumann, Brooklyn, told members of the Hungry Club at a luncheon at which he flayed promiscuous marriage and advocates of the new ethics.

Challenging advocates of freedom in marital life, Dr. Neumann asserted "leaders who have fought for a single standard sought to bring the lower element to the higher plane."

"Youth should not be told to 'shop around' and try one marriage after another if the first does not succeed," said he. "Temporary arrangements leave a permanent injury."

He suggested:

"Youth should be taught how to prepare for marriage."

GARBAGE COLLECTOR IN DAYTIME, THEN PREACHER AT NIGHT

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, Dec. 15.—Police Sergt. B. F. Richards of the Pennsylvania railroad believes, if loquacity is an aid, that a certain Negro preacher of his official acquaintance is going to be a big success.

Richards dunned the preacher for damages after the latter drove his machine through a railroad crossing gate in Homestead.

He got this reply:

"I don't think you ought to collect. This accident took place at night time while I was on my way to preach the gospel, which job I have been following at night.

"It don't pay much. My day job ain't bin working for some time. It pays better. It is collectin garbage.

"When I gits back collectin garbage agin I'll pay on it."

Year-end matters were considered by members of the Executive committee of the senior Young People's Christian Union of the First U. P. church when they met last night with Miss Marguerite Smith, 425 East Park avenue, as hostess. It marked the regular December business meeting.

Presiding was the president, Miss Sara Patterson. Every committee chairman reported their activities for the early months of 1932. Arrangements to conduct week night mission study classes, beginning late this month, were made.

The society is now engaged in its stewardship studies, the classes being conducted during the regular Sunday evening worship services.

A social event for early in January was considered.

At the close of the meeting, delightful refreshments were served to the guests by the hostess and her mother, Mrs. William M. Smith. Thomas H. Hartman, society counselor, was a special guest.

LOOKING BACK IN NEW CASTLE

It was in the Civil War that Lawrence county made its outstanding record as a loyal community that supports the government that furnishes it with protection to the fullest extent. With a population much less than the majority of the other counties of the state "loyal Little Lawrence" gave 4,000 men from all ranks of life to the cause of the Union. A majority of these men were volunteers, the balance being drafted as there became a pressing need throughout the Union States for a larger number of men with which to combat the Southern Confederacy. Within a few hours after the arrival of the new concerning the capture of Fort Sumter, there had been a couple of companies organized here and preparations for others to join in defense of the Union, when needed. In proportion to its population, Lawrence County furnished more men than most any other district of similar size and population in the entire country.

Deer Season Is Brought To End

More Animals Have Been Brought Back To New Castle This Year Than Ever Before

Twilight will put an end to one of the biggest deer seasons in the history of Pennsylvania, when thousands of the inoffensive animals were killed by Pennsylvania hunters.

It is estimated that well over 200 deer were killed by New Castle sportsmen during the season, most of them does, although some fine bucks were secured.

Because of the rapid increase in the number of deer in the state, open season on does was declared by the state game commission, and the size limit was reduced over that of last year.

Many instances were reported where every member in a camp secured a deer. In others, the members of party refused to shoot at the does and returned empty handed.

Seven Great Killers March Through State

(Special To The News)

HARRISBURG, Dec. 15.—Seven great killers march daily up and down our state, taking toll of human life. These ruthless destroyers largely lie in wait for those of middle age, or even more advanced years, and snuff out their lives, often without much warning. In the files of the Department of Health, of Pennsylvania, carefully gathered data show these deadly enemies of human life to be: Heart Disease, responsible for 23,000 deaths annually; Brights Disease, 10,000; Cancer, 10,000; Pneumonia, 9,500; Accidents, 8,500; Apoplexy, 8,250; and Tuberculosis, 6,000.

These diseases are responsible for two-thirds of all the deaths in the commonwealth each year. Of these, Heart attacks, Pneumonia, Apoplexy and Accidents bring death more or less suddenly, giving the family physician little time often, to meet the enemy. Bright's disease, Cancer and Tuberculosis work more slowly, and each of them, if discovered soon enough, offer medical treatment a fighting chance for saving the life.

Heart disease is the most deadly, accounting for one death out of every five reported for the last calendar year. The next five are so closely allied in the number of victims, that any one of them may take a slight lead in any one year. So far, Bright's disease and Cancer hold the highest count.

Knowing these facts, it would seem to be a wise policy to direct a major defensive, by every force that makes for health, against the onslaughts of these "killers" who have continued for so many years to strike down by the thousand, men and women who seemingly up to the time of attack, had enjoyed reasonable good health. Prepare your system to resist these enemies.

They surely do overwork that good word "manana" in the land of the bull fighting Dons. We read where Alfonso Trece, lately of Madrid, has left all rights to the throne of Spain to his son.—The Fort Worth Star-Telegram.

Mrs. R. M. Converse of Erie, Pa., says, "I was always tired out and troubled with a lot of gas. Every night I would be awfully sick. I began using ACIDINE and it did me much good. I surely am feeling fine now—tired feeling and gas and acid all gone. I am a changed woman."

"I was in a terrible state for years with acid indigestion," writes Mrs. Nellie Crouse, of Kansas City, Mo. "After eating I had such terrible pains in my stomach, I thought I'd die. Such relief is yours, too, if you take ACIDINE. Remember, this new ACIDINE is entirely different from other known remedies. Universe Recreating Itself, Is Statement Of Noted Scientist

Dr. Robert Andrews Millikan, Of California Tech Makes Startling Statement

Also, Declares That German Scientists Have Raised Revolt Against Einstein Theory

By LYLE ABBOTT
International News Service Staff Correspondent

PASADENA, Cal., Dec. 15.—The universe is recreating itself, this was the epochal declaration Monday of Dr. Robert Andrews Milliken, faculty head of the California Institute of Technology.

A second revelation by Dr. Milliken was that German scientists have raised a revolt against the theory of relativity, which was advanced by their countryman, Dr. Albert Einstein.

Millikan, the apostle of optimism, had already taken sharp issue with the famous scientific pessimist, Dr. James H. Jeans of England, who contends that the universe of matter is gradually disintegrating into rays of heat and light.

Voltages Measured.

"My associate, Dr. Carl D. Anderson, and I have succeeded in making the first measurements of the voltages of Cosmic rays," said Dr. Milliken, the discoverer of these rays.

"I am happy to announce that the measurements coincide with my previous calculations of what these voltages should be, and thus give new support to the hypotheisis that matter is being created in the universe.

Dr. Milliken explained that the new theory is that there is a life cycle instead of a heat death for the commonest elements of the earth, whose origin has never been explained in any other way.

German scientists at the Potsdam observatory have just completed measuring the pictures made at the last eclipse of the sun, Dr. Milliken said. They have found that the bending of the rays of light by the sun is almost twice as great as can be accounted for by Einstein's theory.

UNIONTOWN, Pa., Dec. 15.—Commonwealth prosecutions today continued their efforts to send three men to the electric chair in two trials in progress here.

A first degree murder verdict was sought against James Thomas, charged with fatally shooting Luther Cole as the victim walked along a road in South Connellsville with his wife, Mabel.

Death Verdicts were demanded for Raymond Robinson and Peter Kubiak, of Kingview, near Scottdale, in connection with the death of Elizabeth Hill, 19, who state police say was thrown from a machine in which she was riding with the two men.

Both Robinson and Kubiak testified the girl was intoxicated and fell from the automobile.

CHARM AND BRAINS WANTED IN GIRLS

(International News Service)

CHICAGO, Ill., Dec. 15.—College men are usually considered old-fashioned, but if it be old-fashioned to object to women smoking and drinking and to shy at excessive use of rouge and lipstick, then North western University men will have to be placed in that category.

A poll of male students by the Daily Northwestern revealed that 80 per cent of the men preferred the feminine type of girl, the kind who does not drink or smoke and who uses cosmetics sparingly.

The fiction that "gentlemen prefer blondes" was dispelled when the questionnaires failed to reveal any expression as to the most popular shade of hair or complexion. "Charm, intellect and sophistication" were the qualities the students considered desirable in a girl.

MILLIONAIRE BREAKS WINDOWS FOR FUN

SALINA, Cal. Dec. 15.—Officials of the Pajaro Valley Consolidated railroad wondered why so many windows were being broken in their cars on sidings here. They investigated and found that instead of mischievous boys, the culprit was a millionaire from Pebble Beach, fashionable San Francisco peninsula resort.

The millionaire, they found, repeatedly drove up to the car siding in his limousine, stopped, looked over the cars, obtained a brick from his straight-faced chauffeur, heaved it through a window, dusted his hands, returned to his car, and then drove nonchalantly back to Pebble Beach.

House Concurs In Senate Action On Relief Measure

Talbot Measure Appropriating $10,000,000 For Relief Up To Governor

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, Dec. 15.—House and senate recessed this afternoon after the house voted unanimously to concur in senate minor amendments to the Talbot bill making a direct relief appropriation of $10,000,000 from the general fund and the senate passed finally the amended McKay house bill carrying an appropriation of $2,000,000 for state aided hospitals.

The Talbot bill, an anti-administration measure, is now ready to be laid before Gov. Gifford Pinchot. The executive, according to reports, will veto the measure on the ground of unconstitutionality.

Senator George Woodward's effort to have the senate approve his amended bill to create an industrial army failed by a viva voce vote. Chief objection voiced to the bill was the $10,000,000 appropriation which it carries and which Senator Harry G. Scott, Centre, chairman of the appropriations committee, said was not available from current revenues.

Mrs. Anna Lonergan Lovett Martin, Brooklyn, Visits Wounded Husband In Hospital

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, Dec. 15.—Mrs. Anna Lonergan Lovett Martin, whose dark star has faintly glimmered over several gangsters murders on Brooklyn waterfront today vowed vengeance as she stood by the hospital bed on which her husband, Matthew Martin, hovered between life and death.

Martin was the newest victim of the two decades of terrorism along Brooklyn's water front which already had taken from Mrs. Martin her first husband, "Wild Bill" Lovett, and her brother, "Peg Leg" Lonergan, and in which a score of gangsters were killed.

"If I find out who shot you," she moaned I'll clean out that gang, if I have to do it single-handed," Mrs. Martin exclaimed after Martin refused to tell her who shot him twice in the right side.

Warfare along the Brooklyn docks has raged for many years, with Red Onions and White Handers gangs battling for supremacy.

Judge Jones had continued in effect a temporary restraining order handed down on petition of local sportsmen to weeks ago. Dissolution of the injunction today came too late for deer hunters to seek the woods in quest of game.

Ellwood School Survey Touches On Buildings

ELLWOOD CITY, Dec. 15. — A further discussion on the school buildings takes place in this installment of Supt. W. Ray Smith's Survey Report of the Ellwood City Public Schools. How children are designated to attend certain schools in this city are brought out also.

CENTRAL BUILDING

The Central School scored 314 points against a possible maximum score of 1000 points.

Site

It is obvious that a score of 50 out of a possible 100 is a high score for this particular building which is located in the central part of the business district. Since no activity space is available it is necessary to transfer all students to the senior high school field for all games and outdoor fetes.

Building

This building is classed under the Type "D" structure and scored 75 points against a maximum of 155 points. The following items reduce the score as listed above. The number and location of stairways, lighting of rooms and halls, size of corridors, basement, and attic. The internal structure tends to reduce the rating of this building considerably more than the exterior structure.

Service Systems

92 points were scored on this item against a possible maximum of 270 points. The absence of the following equipment consequently reduced the score. Type and installation of the heating system, air supply, temperature control, fire alarm system, fire exits, fire floors, partitions, exit lights and signs, cleaning system, artificial lighting system, electric service system including, clocks, telephones, and call system, water supply system including drinking fountains and lavatories, toilet system and storage service.

Classrooms

88 points scored—maximum 145 points. The principle factors governing classrooms are location, and connection, construction and finish, illumination and equipment.

Special Rooms

The Central building was scored as a high school building, while it was not designed for high school work alone, it is now being used for that purpose only, and should be scored as such. There are no special rooms in this building as required for this type of work.

General Service

The following services is necessary but not available, auditorium, cafeteria, gymnasium and swimming pool, library and study halls.

Administration Rooms

The following rooms are necessary in the line up on a modern high school: Principal's offices and waiting room, supply room, teachers rooms, medical rooms, student activity rooms, and custodians office.

In Ellwood City there are seven separate schools. Among these are included two high schools and five elementary schools: Ellwood City has a 6-3-3 plan of organization—six years of elementary, three years of junior high school, and three years of senior high school. The West End school is used for housing first ward school pupils in grades one to six inclusive. The Hartman School is used for housing second ward school pupils in grades one to six inclusive and school pupils from grades five and six from first ward. The North Side School is used for housing fourth ward school pupils in grades one to 6B inclusive. The Ewing Park School is used for housing fifth ward school pupils in grade one to six inclusive and 6A school pupils from the fourth ward. The Central School is used for housing pupils in grades seven and 8B inclusive for the city, and the Lincoln School is used for housing pupils in grades 8B to 12A inclusive.

Where The School Children Live

It is a mere platitude to say that buildings should be located where they are most accessible to the school population which they are to serve. Yet most school plant surveys show that this factor does not always determine such location. The increasing traffic hazards of our busy city streets require that schools be so located as to keep the children in so far as possible, from the much-used highways. This requires that buildings be located where there are available play areas, and far away from busy streets. It is, likewise, important that buildings are not located too near together. This duplicates service, and results in unnecessary capital and overhead expenses.

Elementary school children can be expected to walk from one half to three quarters of a mile to school. A circle with one half mile radius drawn about the school represents approximately the area which an elementary school can be expected to serve. Circles of one mile and one and one half mile radii represent, respectively standard school district limits established for the junior and senior high school.

A number of small schools instead of fewer organized in larger units results in such overlappings of territory. It is true that difficulties through irregularities of contour, unavailability of sites, and other difficulties effected by obstructions from various causes oftimes make it difficult to lay out an ideal situation, in respect to school building locations, but the basic principles involved should be conformed to as far as possible. The junior and senior high school buildings are quite centrally located, and that pupils do not have to walk great distances.

Due to the fact that all the school buildings with the exception of the Ewing Park building are overcrowded and that the school enrollment is constantly increasing something will have to be done to take care of the housing situation in the near future. It is suggested that an addition be built to the Lincoln building sufficiently large enough so that building will house all the pupils in grades 7-12 inclusive. It is further suggested that all of the sixth grade pupils of the city be housed in the Central school. This plan will necessitate the building of only one addition and will give relief to all the building. It will also make possible a good school organization in all o fthe different buildings.

William Pickens Proves To Be Very Interesting Speaker

Addresses Large Crowd At The Second Baptist Church Last Night

William Pickens, national secretary of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, was greeted by an audience that filled the auditorium of the Second Baptist church, North street, on Monday evening, when he appeared there under the auspices of the local branch of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People. In the audience were quite a number of white people.

Dr. J. A. Gillespie, president of the local branch, presided and seated on the platform with the chairman and guest speaker were the colored ministers of the city—Rev. W. W. Nelson, pastor of the Second Baptist church; Rev. William McPherson, pastor of the Bethel A. M. E. church; Rev. H. P. Anderson, pastor of St. Luke's A. M. E. Zion church; Rev. H. P. Anderson, pastor of St. Luke's A. M. E. Zion church; Rev. L. J. Pollard and Rev. Simmons.

After a few appropriate remarks by the chairman, Dr. Gillespie, Rev. William McPherson led in prayer, after which a scripture lesson was read by Rev. H. P. Anderson. This was followed by a solo by U. S. Walker. Mayor William H. Gillespie than extended the welcome of the city to the guest speaker.

William Pickens, the speaker of the evening, was then introduced and in a forceful manner explained the purpose of the association, namely, to protect the constitutional and legal rights of the colored people and told what had been done along the line of fighting laws and cases that were discriminatory against the colorod race. He said that there was one thing that this work had at least done and that was to give colored people a hope that will aid much in their continued effort for the uplift of their race in this country. He urged that they be law abiding citizens and ready to make sacrifices, fight and pay in many ways for the freedom they enjoy and seek to retain.

At the conclusion of his address, a few minutes were spent in an effort to secure new members for the local branch of the national association. Then two seletcions were rendered by the Community chorus directed by Art O. Thomas, with Miss Eleanor Marks as accompanist. The meeting was brought to a close with the pronouncing of the benediction by Rev. W. W. Nelson.

GRIST MILLS IN COUNTY

Editor The News:
New Castle, Pa.
Dear Sir:—

Your interesting editorial "Grist Mill Comes Back" appearing in today's News is very true and deals with a subject worthy of much more consideration at a time like this, when all families are practicing economy.

How many people realize that there are eight quite busy grist mills in Lawrence county? Did you know that the mill on South Croton Ave. has a grinding capacity of over two tons of feed and four barrels of bread flour per hour?

There are many very interesting facts about our local mill, known as the New Castle Milling Company. Our mill makes a perfect winter wheat pastry flour known to the trade as Silver Moon, a blended bread flour known as Perfection, pure whole wheat flour, and a hot cereal marketed under the name of Wheat Parts.

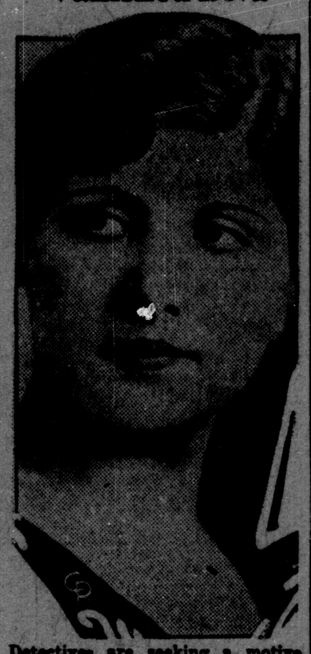

Hundreds of farmers trade their wheat to the mill for flour. Some farmers trade wheat for grinding, feed, salt, rolled oats, corn meal, or buckwheat flour. Many farmers depend entirely on their wheat to provide or pay for the flour and cereals for their table.

The mill does not confine its trading to farmers. Local bakers, stores, restaurants and hotels use over one hundred barrels of flour each week.

Since it takes five bushels of wheat to make one barrel of flour, it is very evident that the farmers of this vicinity derive considerable cash and flour for the wheat disposed of through the local mill. Truly, the grist mill is a great advantage and convenience in any community.

Very truly yours,
F. V. LORTZ.

Vanished Diva

Detectives are seeking a motive other than the suicide threatened in the note she left in her New York hotel suite, in the mysterious disappearance of Mme. Santa Biondo, singer at the Metropolitan Opera House. Mme. Biondo, whose home is in New Haven, Conn., vanished on the eve of her first major appearance in grand opera.

Pledges Added To Community Chest

About $500 Additional Funds For Chest Are Reported

Out of town subscribers, and others who could not pledge during the actual campaign, have brought in some additional pledges to the Community Chest as follows:

Johnson Limestone Company	$300.00
Manufacturers Light & Heat	50.00
L. M. Buchanan	50.00
Mrs. L. M. Buchanan	25.00
New Way Plumbing & Heating	25.00
Guardian Finance Company	10.00
M. Rom & Sons Company	10.00
Martha Faller	2.00

These are very welcome inasmuch as the chest is still $2,213.84 short of its goal. Mrs. Rupert, secretary of the Community Chest, says that December payments are now due and these payments will mean much at this time. The Associated Charities and Red Cross are especially busy at this time in relief work. The Boy Scouts are assisting in relief work by delivering hundreds of paper bags for old clothes collections. The Chest leaders thank the above subscribers for the pledges made at this time.

E. W. Faber, Deputy State Fire Marshal, preferred the arson charges and alleged that firemen found evidences of incendiarism following a blaze in a stwo-story building owned by Sack.

County Detective Jack Hasson, on behalf of a 15-year-old girl, preferred the serious charges. He accused sack of mistreating the girl after giving her a ride in his automobile.

Pinchot Of Opinion America Should Lead In Economic Recovery

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, Dec. 15.—Taking issue with economists who hold world-wide causes are at the root of the depression, Gov. Gifford Pinchot today was on record with the statement that present conditions are "American made and can be American mended."

The Governor listed three salient bases for the depression. They were:

1.—Gold hoarding.
2.—Enormous credit inflation.
3.—Credit mismanagement in wild speculation.

"All three," he added, "are of American origin. I have no sympathy with those fair-weather prophets who would shift to others our own responsibility—shift it as an excuse for doing nothing constructive ourselves."

The executive attacked the administration for failure to act when the crash was impending. He said:

"Had the government made any attempt to curb the forces which were managing our business affairs, had it been far-sighted enough to guide the tremendous energy of American industry away from self-destruction, this nation would not now be in economic turmoil."

Barber Balks At Joining After He Humbles Union

Troublesome Former Member Sets His Own Terms For Readmittance, Then Decides He'll Stay Out; Price Slashing Starts It All

SUPERIOR, Wis., Dec. 15—Superior's 65 union barbers have had trouble enough with William J. Shinners. He was ousted from the union several years ago. Last week he cut his price on haircuts from 50 cents to 25 cents. The union held a special meeting Friday to invite him back into the fold.

Shinners said he would join provided that:

The union hire a taxicab to take him to and from its meetings.

Each member stand and bow when he entered the meetings.

Its $50 fine for infraction of rules be wiped out.

His dues be paid for the first month and that all non-union barbers in the city be admitted on the same terms.

And now, after the union agreed to all his demands, Shinners decided he wouldn't join anyway.

FAMILY IN NEED PLEADS FOR AID AS COLD COMES

A touching plea for aid for a New Castle family in economic distress reached The News this morning—tonight that same family is praying for a response from some receptive heart.

The family of four, whose home here is cold, need a coal cook stove, several carpets and rugs if they're obtainable. Some sore of sleeping bed for two small babies, who've slept in their buggy now for some time, would delight the hopeful parents.

The family name is being withheld, but circumstances justify every part of the plea. The husband of the family, willing to work, is jobless. Donators are asked to call 2734-R.

'Spuds' Show, Talks Feature Growers Association Meet

A potato show and talks by leading state experts on the latest and most productive methods in raising potatoes featured the closing sessions of the annual meeting of the Lawrence County Potato Growers' Association, held in Liberty Grange, Harlansburg, this afternoon.

The big feature of the meeting, which included the annual dinner of the growers, as well as farewell talks by retiring officers of the organization, was the first potato show ever held in the county. Considerable effort had been made to make the display a worthwhile attraction.

Speakers this afternoon were H. C. Kane's Return To University Brings Comment

Understood That Professor Kane Had Resigned From Faculty Prior To Trial

SOLEMN SILENCE ON SCHOOL CAMPUS

(International News Service)

KNOXVILLE, Tenn., Dec. 15.—Campus chatter contrasted with a solemn official silence as the University of Tennessee awaited today the return of Prof. Elisha Kent Kane, professor of romance languages, acquitted Saturday night of murdering his wife in Hampton, Va.

The status of Kane was uncertain as university officials remained noncommittal.

"Whether Kane returns depends entirely upon Dean Hoskins," declared H. A. Morgan, president of the university. "I understand that Professor Kane, before his trial, resigned and the resignation was accepted."

Dean Hoskins had nothing to say.

"And I don't know when I will have anything to say," he angrily told newspapermen.

Prof. Kane's name was omitted from a recent edition of the university directory.

Sentiment on the campus almost unanimously is in favor of the retention of Prof. Kane as a faculty member.

Presenting a Famous Golfer

Despite his 92 years, John D. Rockefeller is a familiar figure on his golf course at Ormond Beach, Fla., where this most recent photo was made. It is interesting to recall that Mr. Rockefeller retired as president of the Standard Oil Company almost exactly twenty years ago, December, 1911. The aged magnate takes his golf seriously and would not dream of missing his daily round. Note the modish split-back gloves and carefully water-proofed golf shoes.

Correct this sentence: "I can notice no difference" said the man, "in the way people treat me since I lost my money."

A medicine chest is a place where you keep half-empty bottles of dope whose purpose long since has been forgotten.

Although the railroads in the U. S. earned $440,000,000 less in 1930 than in 1916 their payrolls were $720,000,000 larger.

RENTZ SPEAKER AT LIONS' CLUB

President Of News Company Speaks About Newspaper At Noon Session

Declaring that the New Castle News was founded and has grown upon the principles of honesty and cleanliness and will continue to exist as such, President Fred L. Rentz of The News company today told the city's Lion Club, meeting in the Elks club "What is Means to Own and Operate a Newspaper."

Rentz's address, very interesting throughout, conveyed to the attentive clubmen just what problems daily newspapers must face. He told the club that it was a most fascinating business.

Touching briefly upon some of the civic projects that at present hold the chief attention of residents here Mr. Rentz pointed out to them what important relations the newspaper has to each. He spoke generally of the cooperation that must exist between municipalties and their papers.

Former King Lion E. D. Marvin introduced Mr. Rentz, including in his praising introduction the announcement that Mr. Rentz, upon entering the dining room for the luncheon, had presented to him a check for $100, all of which is to be expended in the club's extensive blind work.

Before the talk of Mr. Rentz, the club made final plans for a dinner which they will tender all of Lawrence county's blind folk at the Epworth M. E. church on Tuesday evening, December 22. Each club member has assumed responsibility for accompanying some blind guest.

Special red and white canes, prepared for the blind of the city, will be presented to the guests at the dinner event.

Music featured today's meeting, with a pleasing cello solo by John E. Paton, accompanied by his wife, as the first number. A quartet composed of John McNiel, B. F. Thacker, William McCombs and E. D. Marvin, also sang "Stars of the Summer Night." Mrs. Paton accompanied.

Mr. Weible discussed the new law in all phases of its probable effect and the objective for which it was passed. Under the act, violation of which is punishable by heavy fines and imprisonment, every barber must pass a physical examination, also an examination as to his fitness to be in the business. The making of perfect sanitary conditions is the real objective of the act.

HERE AND THERE IN SPORTS' LAND

Resignation of George Little, director of athletics at the University of Wisconsin and the report that Glenn Thistlewaite, head football coach would also resign caused a turmoil in athletics at that institution. Little's decision to relinquish his post came on the eve of a legislative investigatiton of expenditures by the athletic department.

The football coach has been under fire since the close of the season and his dismissal was expected last week. Director Little was instrumental in bringing Thistlewaite from Northwestern university. A deficit of $76,000 in the athletic department budget and the amount of money expended for administrative duties in the department recently led the legislature to order an investigation.

Chick Meehan who answered a university's call seven years ago for a "big league" football team and the accompanying fame, is back at his vice president's desk in a contracting firm, thoroughly disillusioned. "I'll never coach college football on a big basis again," he said today in New York City. "I'm through with big gates, high pressure, terrific schedules.

I'm sick and tired of driving boys, whipping them into frenzies with everything but lashes, seeing them crack from nothing but exhaustion near the end of the season. That's not football, the game. I'll never be a party to that again." Meehan said he had no offers to coach and does not expect any.

Following on the heels of Meehan's announcement came the statement from Elmer E. Brown, chancellor of New York University where Meehan held forth the university's policy of "sports for sport's sake" would be the determining factor in the selection of a coach to succeed Chick. Dr. Brown said the faculty board of athletic control last January had adopted a new athletic policy to become effective with the incoming freshmen in September 1931. This is aimed at the deemphasizing of football. Brown paid tribute to Meehan by stating he accomplished "great results" and will always be remembered by New York U.

President Samuel Breadon of the St. Louis Cardinals has announced he had decided definitely to keep Hack Wilson, the former home run clouter. . . . Marchmont Schwartz, Notre Dame All-American halfback, will play with the Eastern team in the East-West game, New Year's day at San Francisco . . . Wiffy Cox won the national match play open golf championship when he beat George Von Elm 6 and 5 at San Francisco.

Paul Pirrone, welterweight of Cleveland, has been stung by the lash of the Cleveland commission for unsportsmanlike conduct. He will not be allowed to fight in Cleveland for 90 days and must pay $300. Pirrone was declared the loser on a foul in the seventh round of his bout with Champion Lou Brouillard after he had failed to heed Referee Tommy Mulgrew's repeated warnings to "keep his punches up."

Mose Butch who recently fought Jackie Rodgers here scored a technical knockout over Willie Davies last night at Pittsburgh. Davies was floored and owing to a bad cut on the mouth and failure to get the blood stopped caused Referee Grayber to stop the fight after they had worked on Davies in the corner, at the end of the first round. Previous to the knockdown Davies was holding his own against the southpaw. It was the first knockout Davies sustained in 264 fights.

Offer Made To Max Schmeling To Meet Walker

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, Dec. 15—Max Schmeling, world's heavyweight boxing champion, six day bicycle race promoter, and Nate Lewis of Chicago engaged in a bidding match for the services of the German boxer for a Chicago bout.

In a telegram made public by Joe Jacobs, manager of Schmeling, Lewis offered to guarantee Schmeling $200,000 with a privilege of 40 per cent of the gate receipts, for a ten round bout against Mickey Walker, the former middleweight champion.

Chapman has been quietly negotiating with Jacobs for an outdoor battle in Chicago between the Germer and Jack Dempsey. Jacobs declined to give the financial details of Chapman's offer.

It was noised about that Chapman was willing to give Schmeling a $200,000 guarantee but that he would insist on the German opposing Dempsey. Chapman intends to stage his fight, if he signs both boxers at Soldiers Field in June.

Locals Rounding In Form For Scott High

1931-32 Floor Season Swings Open Friday Night At George Washington Junior High

NEW CASTLE HIGH SCRIMMAGES MONDAY

Showing up well against the recruits the New Castle high school basketball team started the second week of practice Monday afternoon on the Senior high court. The opening contest of the 1931-32 season brings together New Castle and Scott high at George Washington Junior high floor next Friday night.

For such an early stage the locals seem to possess plenty of speed. The work of the first team has been improving daily. Andy Lasky, lanky center looks much improved from last season. He will likely hold down this berth starting with Friday. Nick Uram veteran guard from last season's quintet is also demonstrating some of that clever head work which earned for him a good name on the floors throughout this district.

Bus Reiber who saw action with the high school ramblers is fighting hard for the berth opposite Nick Uram. Coach Bridenbaugh has been using him at guard for the past week. Johnny Teplica although slightly green shows promise of developing into a valuable asset before the season ends. John Uram looks like a sure shot for the other forward post.

In Monday afternoon's drill the varsity quintet was ordered through a short scrimmage. The second team was pitted against the third and fourth teams. The work of the second stringers was not impressive. Tony Cooper who is at the present time holding down a third team berth may land himself a second team uniform should he continue his good work. Monday he appeared in the majority of the plays against the varsity and second team.

Faculty Manager Ralph H. Gardner stated today that the George Washington gym has been arranged for the opening of the floor season. Tickets for the game are now on sale at the Sporting Goods Store on East Washington street. Reserved seats sell for 65 cents. General admission pasteboards are worth 50 cents. Although not authentic the game will probably start at 8 o'clock, Gardner asserted.

Union To Play New Wilmington Team On Friday

Union High basketball team will play New Wilmington on the New Wilmington floor on Friday night of this week, it was announced today. The Union High basketeers are slowly rounding into shape for the season. The squad will be cut to fifteen men by Coach "Morg" Boyd for the present.

Coach Boyd has worked several combinations but as yet has not found the right one. Scrimmage Monday night found the Blue team composed of Jaworski and Allen at the guards, Boron at center and Lannigan and Monico at the forwards. The Red team that scrimmaged against the Blue team consisted of Morrison and Phillips at the forwards, Dec at center, and Sniezek and Reynolds as guards. The White team was made up of Georgacz at center, Mescal and Silzeski forwards and Kirker and White at the guards. Another team was made up of Louden at center, Cochran and Thompson at the guards and Hughes and Morrison at the forwards.

There are several fine players at Union and it is going to be a difficult task to select a winning combination. Coach Boyd will keep shifting the men until a good passing and offensive team is found.

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 15—Wilfred "Wiffy" Cox, Brooklyn professional, was $15,000 richer today as a result of his victory over George Von Elm "business man" golfer of Los Angeles. Cox defeated Von Elm 6 to 5 in the final-round of their 36 hole match of the national open match tournament. Von Elm got $1000 for being runner up.

Cox, having proved himself a great "mudder" in Sunday's terrific rain, when he had Von Elm 5 down, maintained his steadiness in the final 18 holes despite the high winds that whipped across the course.

Most of the golfing elite departed today for Southern California where they will play in the Los Angeles open, the Pasadena open and the Agua Caliente, Mex. open.

Saints Avenge Defeat Suffered At Farrell Here Monday Night. St. Mary's Girls Win

The St. Mary's varsity quintet handed the St. Ann's of Farrell a 22 to 13 setback here last night and avenged a 22 to 21 defeat suffered recently at the hands of the Farrell team on their own floor. The St. Mary's girls won from the Bluebirds 15 to 6 in the preliminary game.

The Saints began with a fast attack that netted them a lead of 7 to 2 as the first period ended. At the half the locals led by a score of 11 to 5. The visitors were held to a lone basket in the third period, while the Saints kept hammering away.

Uhle-Jones Star

In the fourth period the visitors threw all discretion to the winds and heaved the ball whenever they got their hands on it, and tallied three baskets, but were not capable of overcoming the lead piled up by the Fraser coached crew. The excellent guarding of Uhle and Jones kept the Farrell team at a safe distance from the hoops all during the game, and in addition Uhle and Jones made five of the baskets for St. Mary's giving the team ten points. Kulich also played a fine game for the Saints, as did Rowe and Lackey. For the visitors the work of Secovitch and Lichack featured.

In the girls game the playing of Confer, Ryan and Bunnell feature for the Saints, while the work of Ruha and Patton was the best for the losers.

MADISON, Wis., Dec. 15—Prominent among the coaches mentioned here today for the post of athletic director George E. Little, who resigned, were "Fritz" Crisler, director of Minnesota; Andrew Kerr, Colgate mentor and Franklin Cappon, assistant athletic director at Michigan.

Nothing definite was known of the future plans of the University of Wisconsin, for the news of Little's resignation burst like a bombshell. Dismissal of Glenn Thistlewaite, head football coach, had been expected but it was generally supposed Little would remain.

Thistlewaite's formal resignation has not been presented and although many expect it momentarily there were rumors he might supersede Little as director.

New Athletic Policy For New York U. Is Made Public Today

By COPELAND C. BURG
International News Service Sports Writer.

NEW YORK, Dec. 15.—For a great many hours in the past week we have been admiring that little editor on the college paper at New York university who demanded and received the resignation of Chick Meehan, New York university football coach.

But Dr. Elmer Ellsworth Brown, chancellor of the university, stripped the veil and all its trimmings today. He not only announced a new athletic policy for New York university providing for sweeping changes in football, but actually disclosed that the decision for the change was taken at a meeting of the athletic board on January 6, 1931.

News Broadcast.

Perhaps that young editor got a peep at the minutes of the meeting weeks ago and then turned his guns on poor Chick, knowing full well the university officials planned to let Meehan's contract expire.

Whether or not the whole situation in connection with Meehan's quitting as the Violets' coach reveals that truth is stranger than a movie plot or that an editors' typewriter is more powerful than a coach's reputation. N. Y. U. today was aligned with the new movement to de-emphasize football.

The new policy at the New York institution follows the same lines as that recently adopted at Pennsylvania, Yale, Columbia and other universities and show a decided trend for a letdown in football ballyhoo.

Policy Changed.

The much belated statement of Chancellor Brown calls for the elimination of athletic scholarships, abolition of spring practice eventually if not immediately, a shorter pre-season practice in the fall, abolition of recruiting of players, shorter schedules, reorganization of athletic finances and enlarging of intramural sports.

The faculty board of athletic control, made up of five members, will direct the new policy and Meehan's successor will not be Glenn Warner, now coach at Stanford, or Benny Friedman, the former Michigan marvel, who taught Albie Booth and other Yale gents how to toss a forward pass. The word is that the new Violet coach will be dripping with modesty, for he won't be a national figure and most likely will be an alumnus of New York university.

No explanation of the long delay in announcing the Violets' sudden about-face on its football policy was given, but it was evident Meehan had known for some time of the situation and had no idea of remaining at the university.

Vanishing Americans 2.—The Treaty Of Payne's Landing

© 1931, By J. Carroll Mansfield

YEAR BY YEAR THE HUNTING GROUNDS OF THE SEMINOLES IN FLORIDA WERE REDUCED BY THE ADVANCE OF THE CIVILIZED FRONTIER. WITH GROWING RESENTMENT THE INDIANS SAW THE LINE OF WHITE MEN'S CABINS DRAW CLOSER. —

IN RESPONSE TO THE PLEAS OF THE WHITE SETTLERS THE FEDERAL GOVERNMENT DECIDED TO REMOVE THE SEMINOLES TO A RESERVATION WEST OF THE MISSISSIPPI.

IN MAY, 1832, GOVERNMENT AGENTS INDUCED SEVEN MINOR CHIEFS TO SIGN A TREATY AT PAYNE'S LANDING AGREEING TO THE REMOVAL.

THESE CHIEFS DID NOT REPRESENT THE WHOLE SEMINOLE NATION, BUT THE GOVERNMENT HELD THAT THE TREATY WAS BINDING.

MOST OF THE TRIBESMEN WERE ENRAGED WHEN THEY LEARNED WHAT HAD OCCURRED AND DECLARED THEY HAD BEEN TRICKED.

THE SEMINOLES LOVED THEIR FLORIDA HOMELAND AND WERE DETERMINED NOT TO GIVE IT UP. THEY RESOLVED TO REPUDIATE THE TREATY AND RESIST ANY INVASION OF THEIR LANDS.....

WHEN THE CHIEFS THAT HAD SIGNED THE HATEFUL TREATY RETURNED HOME, TWO OF THEM WERE PROMPTLY SHOT! —— 504

General Store

Years ago buyers found everything from nails to wearing apparel under the roof of one general store. In this day of specialization the buyer must spend a great deal of valuable time in going from store to store in search of these things he needs.

Classified Ads, like the general store of old, are selling everything under the sun. A few minutes spent in reading the Classified Ads will save you hours of time and many dollars.

AN ORDINANCE

Providing for the protection in traffic of blind persons furnished with canes by the Lions' Club; for the registration of such canes; and providing penalties.

SECTION 1. Be it hereby ordained and provided by the Council of the City of New Castle, Pa., That the Police Department shall establish and keep a registry book wherein there shall be entered the names of all blind persons residing in the City of New Castle or the County of Lawrence who have been equipped and furnished with canes by the Lions' Club of the City of New Castle. There shall be also entered in the said book after the name of each such blind person his address, his means of support, the name of the persons to be notified in case of accident, the age, sex, color, approximate height and weight of such blind person and the number of his cane. The canes to be provided by the Lions' Club shall be of regulation size and description and shall be painted white except for six inches at the bottom thereof, which shall be painted red.

SECTION 2. Whenever any blind person equipped with such a cane and registered with the Police Department shall desire to cross any street at a regular street crossing or intersection, except where there is a "Stop" and "Go" sign, if he shall exhibit his cane conspicuously by holding the same horizontally in front of him, he and his companion or guide shall have the right of way to cross the said street, and all traffic approaching the said crossing shall be required to stop until the said blind person has crossed the street in safety. At intersections where there is a "Stop" and "Go" sign the blind person shall inquire and ascertain when the traffic is stopped and shall begin to cross only on a green light or "Go" sign; but while he is in the intersection exhibiting his cane, it shall be unlawful for any vehicular traffic to move until he has reached a point of safety, even though the light or traffic sign shall change while he is in the intersection. All motorists and drivers of vehicles shall be charged with the duty to stop in obedience to the provisions of this ordinance, and any person who shall fail to do so shall be guilty of a violation of the ordinance.

SECTION 3. It shall be unlawful for any person, whether blind or otherwise, to carry or exhibit any such cane as is herein provided for to be given out by the Lions' Club, unless and until he shall have registered his name and the said cane with the Police Department of the City of New Castle, as herein provided.

SECTION 4. Any person who shall violate any of the provisions of this ordinance shall, upon conviction before the Mayor or any Alderman of this City, be subject to the payment of a fine of not more than Three Hundred ($300.00) Dollars and costs of suit, and, upon failure to pay the said fine and costs, to imprisonment in the County Jail for a period of not more than ninety (90) days.

State of Pennsylvania, County of Lawrence, City of New Castle, ss:

I, Cordelia Zeigler Jones, City Clerk of the City of New Castle, Pa., do hereby certify that the above and foregoing ordinance was passed finally by the Council of the City of New Castle, Pa., December 14, 1931, signed by the Mayor and attested by the City Clerk.

In witness whereof, I hereunto set my hand and affix the seal of the said City of New Castle, this 15th day of December, A. D. 1931.

NEW YORK STOCKS

Narrow Price Range In Today's Market

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, Dec. 15.—Stocks in the early trading today followed the irregularly downward course which has been in progress for more than a week. For the eighth consecutive day U. S. Steel broke to a "new low," falling back to 40½ for a loss of 1⅝. Standard Oil of New Jersey and American Tel. and Tel. were also under pressure and fell off fractionally.

The railroad stocks made little or no response to the latest phase of the rail wage situation, though Wall Street was generally of the impression that a 10 per cent reduction would be agreed upon by all sides amicably before the end of the year. The car loadings report this week is expected to show an increase of 80,000 in freight loadings as compared with last week. Fractional rallies were recorded in New York Central and Atchison, but the balance of the list fell off moderately.

In the absence of important new developments at home and abroad, stocks churned around in a narrow price range. United Gas improvement and United Corporation suffered from the same steady pressure that has been in evidence since the middle of last week. General Motors and General Electric held steady a fraction under yesterday's close; American Telephone fell off to 120⅛ and Woolworth was in good demand around 40.

Salvation Army Fund Continues To Grow Larger

Ellwood City Is Planning To Assist Appeal For Funds

Salvation Army fund total was announced today as having reached $2850 and hopes were entertained of still greater increases in the fund in the next few days. The need is great, because of the demands made on The Army in ways other than those cared for through co-operation with the Mayor's Relief Committee and the demands after the Relief Committee ceases to function next spring.

Ellwood City churches are planning to co-operate in the raising of the fund of the corps, which functions throughout this city and Lawrence county.

Arrangements are being made for a mass meeting Sunday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock in the Majestic Theatre in that city with the support and co-operation of the churches of that city. There will be an interesting program of speeches, music and the showing of the pictures of the Salvation Army Home in Bellevue.

SPYING ON SPORTS

by WILLIAM RITT

Central Press Sports Editor

Mr. Charles E. Street is not the man to wait until he's recovering from his annual spring cold to do his baseball predicting.

Gabby Street is a man of action. He learned the need of speed when he was stopping those shafts of lightning emanating from the arm of his old batterymate, Walter Johnson. Last year and this the speedy Mr. Street hustled his baseball nine, the St. Louis Cardinals, at such a fast pace that several National league clubs could not keep up with them.

This past October one of the speedy Mr. Street's speediest young men, Mr. Pepper Martin, caught up with the fast Mr. Mack's Athletics, caught up and passed them and speeded the St. Looies right into a world's championship.

So, Mr. Street, who has learned the virtues of speed, can see no reason why he shouldn't do his 1932 baseball predicting right now, before Christmas.

He predicts the St. Louis Cardinals will win the National league pennant.

* * *

"The Cards should win," the speedy Mr. Street is quoted as saying in his pre-Christmas baseball prediction, "'cause I don't see what club can stop us. Do you?"

(Neither do we, Mr. Street, but go on.)

"I can't see where the Cards will be any weaker next year in any department than we were this last season. And last season we finished pretty far in front, didn't we?"

(Yes, Mr. Street, you boys certainly did!)

"However, I expect New York to give us a harder battle next season. John McGraw had some bad breaks last summer and his Giants are sure to be up there fighting. They'll give us the hardest scrap of any of 'em. Right?"

(As it looks right now, before Christmas—right!)

And while such old conservatives as Mr. Cornelius McGillicuddy think Sept. 15 with the locals 20 games in front is plenty time enough to do a little pennant predicting, one is inclined to believe that the speedy Mr. Street's ultra-speedy pennant prediction is not as rash as it looks.

Right now the Cardinals do look like the goods in the National league, and it will be noted that Gabby could have, but didn't mention, two important factors which make his pennant hopes all the brighter.

Factor No. 1—Mr. Pepper Martin who wasn't such a much in the pennant gallop but was uncovered in all his glory in the world series. Pep may be a bust, but if he's half as good next season as he was last October he'll burn up the league.

Factor No. 2—Mr. Hack Wilson, who came to the Cardinals wrapped up in a package with Pitcher Bud Teachout for the aging Burleigh Grimes. Hack flopped dismally for the Cubs last year, but he apparently wasn't happy under the new Chicago management and his chance to play with a club which should finish ahead of the outfit which traded him down the river (the Mississippi) should fire him with the old zeal and zip.

Yes, the speedy Mr. Street may be a little early in his pennant dope, but you can't say he's rash. He has his talking points—about 15 of them, all husky and in the best of health.

MEANEST THIEF VISITS CITY

Some time during the night, the meanest thief, who operates here and there throughout the country, visited this city.

His victim was Richard Krause, 401 Waldo street, a cripple having but one arm.

The thief visited the chickencoop of Krause and not satisfied with taking some of the chickens there, took them all, eleven hens and one rooster, killing them in the coop.

Detective C. G. Logan and Officer Thomas Lynch made the investigation.

Pitt-Wisconsin Battle Tonight

PITTSBURGH, Dec. 15—With a season-opening victory over Temple tucked away Pitt's cagers today were enroute for Madison, Wis., where they clash with the Badgers tonight in the first of a series of road engagements which will keep the Panther basketeers away until next year—not so long, at that.

An even dozen of the squad was bundled up for the jaunt which will carry the local squad as far as California before they turn homeward. After meeting Wisconsin, the boys will take on Indiana, Purdue, Kansas, Colorado, California, Stanford, Southern California and the Los Angeles Athletic Club, the schedule calling for two games with California and three with the Jayhawks.

Forest A. C. To Have Fast Team

The Forest A. C. will be on the basketball floor this year with a fast quintet, according to plans made recently at a meeting of the club. The Forest A. C. is planning to enter the newly created City-County Floor league. They have a strong combination lined up as follows:—

Coach Charles Padula, Manager Joe Aiello, Capt. Tony Cooper, Bill Cooper, Dan Cooper, Frank Vigali, Mose Mancine, Paul Laurell, Lewis Daughtery, Jack Llewellyn, Leroy Turk and Bob Abraham. The Forest A. C. will book games with all fast teams in New Castle. For games call 210-R between 2 and 6 o'clock and ask for Joe.

Culbertsons Slash Lenz-Jacoby Lead In Bridge Table Battle

Five Straight Rubbers Won By Culbertsons; And Lenz And Jacoby See Lead Decreased

Mysterious Bidding Adds Interest To Contract Session Monday Night

(Following is a description of last night's play in the contract bridge match between Mrs. Josephine Culbertson and her husband, Ely, and Sidney S. Lenz and Oswald Jacoby, written expressly for International News Service by Mrs. Culbertson.)

By JOSEPHINE CULBERTSON
World's Greatest Woman Bridge Player
Copyright, 1931, International News Service

NEW YORK, Dec. 15.—Last night we started our sixth session and 341st rubber with 4,840 points against us and although Messrs. Lenz and Jacoby are powerful opponents, we were not even worried.

We started the play with the modest hope of chiseling down our opponents' lead by a couple of thousand points and would have been satisfied had we even gained but a few hundred—and then we won five straight rubbers, which wiped out the 4,480 point lead and gave us plus 745.

When the next hand came up, our opponents had scored a game and were sixty on their second game. We had a partial score of ninety. Mr. Culbertson passed, Mr. Lenz bid a diamond and I doubled. Mr. Jacoby bid two clubs and Mr. Culbertson two hearts. Mr. Lenz then bid two spades which I passed and which Mr. Jacoby passed, but Ely skated over thin ice and bid three hearts.

Mr. Jacoby, however, bid three spades and all passed. I opened with the king of hearts. Upon analysis I should have perhaps opened a trump but Ely could have saved the situation. Mr. Lenz won with the ace and returned his knave, which I won with the queen. This established the ten spot of hearts in the dummy on which I felt Mr. Lenz had very cleverly planned to get a discard.

Mysterious Play.

Fearing that he intended to get rid of a losing club, I led a club instead of a trump. This Mr. Lenz took with his singleton ace and led a low diamond, which I could have taken with my ten spot. Mr. Culbertson, however, overtook my ten spot with his queen, for some mysterious reason of his own. He also failed to lead a trump but returned a club.

I made a mental note and added this hand to my stock of ammunition, to use when Ely presents his "crime sheet," in which he inscribes all of my errors of bidding and play and a few of his.

The most remarkable feature of last night's session was that honor cards broke almost even. Opponents led us with aces, while we led with kings. The gods of distribution however, favored us and the types of hands fitted in perfectly with the approach-forcing system.

On the first deal of rubber 38, the last one of the session, they cleverly forced us to a five spade contract which we could have made except for a fine lead by Mr. Jacoby.

We could have set our opponent's five diamond contract by one trick, or at most two tricks, which doubled would have given us only one hundred or two hundred points. I felt that, in view of the bidding, we had a fine chance for game and that the game was worth more than the penalty. After my partner's penalty double, therefore, I bid five spades.

The hand follows:

Dealer, West. Neither side vulnerable.

NORTH—Mr. Lenz
S—8 3 2
H—J 10 9
D—J 9 5 3 2
C—A4

West—Mr. Culbertson	East—Mrs. Culbertson
S—K 6 5	S—A Q J 10 7 4
H—A 8 6	H—7 4 2
D—A 6	D—4
C—Q J 10 9 8	C—K 6 3

South—Mr. Jacoby
S—9
H—K Q 5 3
D—K Q 10 8 7
C—7 5 2

The bidding:

South	West	North	East
	1 Club	Pass	1 Spade
2 Diam.	2 Spades	3 Diam.	4 Spades
5 Diam.	Double	Pass	5 Spades
Pass	Pass	Pass

Had Mr. Jacoby chosen the king of diamonds as his opening lead, instead of the heart king, we would have made our game.

It seemed almost certain that I had all the spades. My husband quite properly abstained from doubling. Not because he feared that opponents might bid four spades, but because he feared that I might leave in his double of four hearts and having obviously nothing but distributional values, would bid five diamonds.

RURAL SCHOOL DENTAL CLINIC REPORT IS MADE

Large Amount Of Work Is Being Done Among School Children In County

An interesting report was made today by the Lawrence County Tuberculosis Society of the Rural School Dental Clinic, a health project sponsored by the society among the children of the first grade in the schools of the county outside this city and Ellwood City. It is one of the projects conducted as a result of the funds received from the sale of Christmas Seals.

Decayed teeth infect the important organs of the body and break down the normal resistance of the body against Tuberculosis and other diseases.

It is hoped that the sale of the little Christmas Seals will be so extensive this year, that there may be an extension of the health projects of the society and also that through additional funds realized for an increased sale of these seals, the dental corrections work may be extended to more school children.

Out of 186 pupils examined, only four pupils had perfect teeth. They are Betty Jane Reese of Glain Grove school: Ruth Forbes, Fox school: Betty Jane Beatrice, Newport school and Virginia Simpson of Enon Valley school.

In this group were found forty-four permanent first molars (six year) were decayed. Early attention and care of the teeth means longer life for the individual and also for the teeth.

Dr. A. G. Reynolds is the dentist in charge of the work and is assisted by Miss Sara M. Burckart, nurse of the Lawrence County Tuberculosis Society.

The report made follows: Number of schools visited 40: number of pupils examined and received oral prophylaxis 186: number of teeth extracted 127: number of pupils referred to their family dentist 65; number of permanent (six years) molars decayed 44: number of cavities 1,300; number of pupils without tooth brushes 40. The number of pupils with perfect teeth is 4: number of permanent teeth present 864.

Grade-Crossing Is Eliminated

Bristol Is Free Of Dangerous Crossing Where Six Met Death

(International News Service)

BRISTOL, Pa., Dec. 15.—Work of eliminating the last grade-crossing in Bristol along the route of the Pennsylvania railroad will have been completed by the first of the year, the elimination of the Green Lane crossing having been under construction for the past year.

The underpass is one of the highest from point of clearance of any along the Pennsylvania Railroad, 15 feet being allowed. This clearance has been made especially for the accommodation of airplanes built at the local aviation plant which are towed to the flying field over the Green Lane route.

Elimination of the Green Lane crossing was ordered after a serious accident there in which six persons were killed. The project cost approximately $300,000.
